Fort Lewis

Arrival

Welcome to Fort Lewis. The post is the home of I Corps; 1st Brigade, 25th Infantry Division; 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division; the 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne); the 2nd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment; the Fourth ROTC Region Headquarters; Madigan Army Medical Center and a number of other nondivisional support units and tenant organizations.

I Corps is called America's Corps because it is made up of Active, Reserve and National Guard units dispersed throughout the United States.

I Corps headquarters also functions as a United States Pacific Command Joint Task Force headquarters.

Fort Lewis is a training and mobilization center for all services and is the only power projection platform west of the Rockies. Fort Lewis is situated in a key geographic location with Interstate 5 allowing easy access to Sea-Tac airport and to the deep water ports of Tacoma and Seattle. Units can be easily deployed at McChord Air Force Base which is adjacent to Fort Lewis. There are 400,000 acres of land to train on at the Yakima Training Center and Fort Lewis.

Fort Lewis has a sub-installation at Yakima Training Center. The main post and North Fort Lewis are located on 86,721 acres of woodlands, prairies and lakes. With 691 miles of roads, restaurants, stores, banks, taxi and bus service, schools, libraries, hospital and recreation facilities, it has almost everything a person could need. Nearly 26,000 soldiers and 8,000 civilian employees and contractors work on Fort Lewis.

Named in honor of explorer Meriwether Lewis, leader of the famous Lewis and Clark Expedition to the Pacific Northwest from 1804 to 1806, the post was founded in 1917 as Camp Lewis. The fort was designated a permanent Army post in 1927, brick barracks and office buildings were built to supplement the original World War I structures.

During the post's long history, it has been home to 14 Army divisions including 3rd Infantry, 4th Infantry and the 9th Infantry Division (Motorized). Fort Lewis has also served as a major training and personnel center for overseas deployment during

Arrival

Fort Lewis

World War II and the Korean and Vietnam Wars.

Although Fort Lewis' mission has changed over the years, one thing has not changed: the natural setting of the post. On a clear day, majestic Mount Rainier looms on the horizon, towering over the other peaks of the Cascade Range. From the mountains to the deep waters of Puget Sound and the Pacific Ocean, the local area abounds in natural beauty and outdoor recreation opportunities. Camping, hiking, hunting, fishing, boating and skiing are a way of life in Washington. Tacoma, Olympia and Seattle offer entertainment, restaurants, shopping, and cultural events that celebrate Northwest life. Whether you come to Fort Lewis for a day's visit, TDY or a permanent move, you will soon see why the post is the Army's most popular assignment of choice.

Getting Here

If you arrive by commercial airline, information and assistance are available at the USO in the Seattle-Tacoma (Sea-Tac) International Airport. Commercial transportation is available from the airport directly to the Waller Hall Welcome and Farewell Center at Fort Lewis. While awaiting transportation, you and your family may relax in the USO lounge on the second floor.

If you are driving, you should have no trouble finding Fort Lewis. Interstate 5 goes right through the post. Exit 120 will take you to the Fort Lewis main gate, which is open 24-hours a day.

If you arrive by train, Tacoma is the stop nearest to post. Taxi and bus services are available from the station.

Those traveling by bus can make connections directly to Fort Lewis.

Reporting In

All officers and enlisted soldiers must report to the 525th Replacement Company on arrival, regardless of unit assignment. The replacement detachment is easily located by following signs to the Waller Hall Welcome and Farewell Center, Bldg. 2140. If you are delayed and are not able to report on the required date, call the Welcome Center at (253) 967-7004 or DSN 357-7004.

Fort Lewis

Arrival

You can expect to be with the detachment four days. Once you sign in, you will receive a billeting assignment, bedding and a temporary meal card if you are not on separate rations. If your family arrives with you, the Welcome Center will help make them comfortable during your inprocessing. To avoid difficulty with obtaining temporary lodging for your family, make reservations at the Fort Lewis Lodge, (253) 964-0211.

You should have all your records with you: personnel, finance, medical and dental. You must be in uniform to in-process. The duty uniform at Fort Lewis is BDU. Be sure you have enough uniforms with you to begin duties after inprocessing.

Finance claims are settled while in processing.

Getting Settled

Whether you plan on living on post or off post, you should contact the Housing Office in Bldg. 2150. The office's staff can give you the most up-to-date housing information and offer suggestions on where to look.

If you're expecting a shipment of household goods and hold baggage, contact the Joint Personal Property Shipping Office (JPPSO), Bldg. 2140, Room 500, telephone 967-5293, 5093, 5427 or 1-800-521-9959. JPPSO hours are Mon-Fri, 7:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m..

If any of your household goods were damaged or lost during shipment, you have 70 days to let the Staff Judge Advocate claims section know, to ensure maximum claim reimbursement. Call 967-0704 for more information. The claims office is located in Bldg. 2027A.

All privately-owned vehicles, firearms, and pets must be registered within five working days of your arrival.

Army Community Service (ACS), Bldg. 2140, the family information and service center, can help you and your family get settled. Call 967-7166 for more information. ■

Units

Fort Lewis

I Corps

I Corps commands most units at Fort Lewis and conducts planning and liaison with other active and reserve component units in the continental United States and active duty units located around the Pacific Rim and Hawaii.

It is one of four corps headquarters in the active Army, and one of three based in the continental United States.

Today, I Corps has been designated as one of the active Army's contingency corps. I Corps stays prepared to deploy on short notice worldwide to command up to five divisions or a joint task force.

Soldiers from I Corps units participated in Operation Just Cause in Panama, Desert Shield and Desert Storm during the Persian Gulf War, Operation Provide Comfort for Kurdish refugees and Enduring Freedom in Iraq. They helped with the restoration of order following the riots in Los Angeles, participated in Operation Safe Harbor in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba for Haitian migrants, supported relief efforts following Hurricane Andrew in Florida and Hurricane Iniki in Hawaii, and played a significant role in Operation Restore Hope in Somalia.

Fort Lewis

Jan. 15, 1993, marked the 75th anniversary of the activation of the First American Army Corps in Neufchateau, France. The Corps assumed tactical responsibility for troops fighting on the western front July 4, 1918. Corps soldiers participated in battles during the Aisne-Marne Offensive, the St. Mihiel Offensive and the Battle of Meuse-Argonne. After World War I, I Corps was disbanded at Tonerre, France in 1919.

I Corps was reactivated at Fort Jackson, S.C., in 1940. In 1942, the corps was assigned to U.S. Army Forces, Southwest Pacific Area under the command of General Douglas MacArthur. I Corps' first major WWII combat assignment was the taking of Buna, New Guinea, the first allied victory over the Japanese. Corps soldiers then won battles at Hollandia and Biak, New Guinea. Later, I Corps took part in the invasion of the Philippines.

Following the war, I Corps was assigned to occupation duty in Japan until 1950 when it was briefly inactivated, then reactivated at Fort Bragg, N.C., and sent to Korea, fighting on the Pusan Perimeter, near Seoul and elsewhere on the peninsula for two years. When the fighting ended, I Corps was given tactical control of U.S., United Nations and Republic of Korea forces along the western third of the Eighth Army area. The Corps continued to play an active role in Korea along the DMZ until 1971, when it was reduced to zero strength.

In 1981, I Corps was reactivated at Fort Lewis.

1st Military Police Brigade (Provisional)

The 1st MP Brigade (Provisional) provides garrison law enforcement and military police operations for I Corps, Fort Lewis and Yakima Training Center. The brigade maintains custody for prisoners assigned to the Regional Corrections Facility and provides military police combat support to I Corps and other contingency forces.

The 1st MP Bde. (Prov) is a brigade-level command organized February 24, 1976 to provide a command and control structure for the variety of MP units on Fort Lewis. The brigade has successfully maintained the balance between providing garrison force protection and wartime combat support functions.

Units

The 504th MP Battalion was activated in the regular Army June 1, 1940 at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. In 1943, the 504th landed on the beaches of North Africa as part of the first Allied forces of World War II to fight against Rommel's Africa Corps. More recently, elements of the 504th MP Bn. deployed to Panama; Guantanamo Bay, Cuba; Somalia; Haiti; Hungary and Croatia where they performed combat support and humanitarian assistance missions. The battalion has a headquarters and three combat support companies: the 66th, 170th and 571st MP Companies.

The 704th MP Battalion was activated in April 1993 and consists of the 51st MP Detachment and Company C. The 51st MP Detachment provides brigade command and control and garrison law enforcement to the Fort Lewis community. Company C is responsible for operating the Regional Corrections Facility.

1st Personnel Group

The 1st Personnel Group was activated Sept. 16, 1990, at Fort Lewis. The unit provides military personnel service and finance support to all units assigned and attached to I Corps and Fort Lewis throughout the Northwest.

Units

Fort Lewis

Critical wartime functions include strength accounting, replacement operations and casualty reporting. These functions, along with promotions, personnel actions and information, customer service, automation and pay are performed in peacetime for soldiers, family members, civilian employees and retirees.

Active component units assigned to the group include: Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 1st Personnel Group; I Corps Band; 22nd Personnel Service Battalion (PSB); 175th Postal Company; 525th Replacement Company; 9th Finance Battalion; and Military Personnel Division.

The 1st Personnel Group, like I Corps, is composed mostly of reserve units that are activated during wartime or for contingency operations. The group is capable of commanding and controlling over 20 personnel service battalions, replacement and postal companies.

The 22nd Personnel Service Battalion has three detachments, a replacement company and a postal company. The battalion is trained and equipped to deploy personnel service teams to assist I Corps in split-based operations.

The 525th Replacement Company equips, transports and assists incoming soldiers in their transition to their new units at Fort Lewis.

In December 1992, the 9th Finance Support command was redesignated the 9th Finance Battalion. In July 1997, the 9th Finance Battalion was placed under the command of the 1st Personnel Group. The 9th Finance Battalion has three detachments and a headquarters element. When deployed, each detachment is capable of providing finance support to approximately 6,000 soldiers.

The Military Personnel Division (MPD) performs all garrison support functions such as in and out processing, central clearance, reassignment processing, retention, retirement services, mobilizations, Identification Cards, DEERS processing and separations. The MPD is made up of Department of the Army civilians and Adjutant General Corps soldiers.

The I Corps Band provides musical support for I Corps, Fort Lewis and the Pacific Northwest. Musical variety is achieved by using different groups within the unit. The Marching Band, Concert Band, Stage Band, Rock and Jazz Combo, Dixieland Band, Brass and Woodwind Quintets collectively perform over 600 military/civilian engagements annually.

1st Brigade, 25th Infantry Division

The 1st Brigade, 25th Infantry division is on the cutting edge of the Army's transformation. Designated as the second Stryker Brigade in 2002, it is scheduled to complete the transformation by the summer of 2004. Much of the success of the brigade in its current mission is a result of the strength of its history.

The brigade was established on August 5, 1917 as Headquarters, 167th Infantry Brigade, 84th Division. The brigade trained for 13 months before being sent to Europe. For actions as part of the American Expeditionary Forces, the brigade was awarded its first battle streamer. In 1942, it was re-designated as the 84th Reconnaissance Troop (less 3rd Platoon), 84th Infantry Division. On November 10, 1944, the division landed in France and rushed to the front becoming the first unit to smash the northern section of Germany's Siegfried Line. In response to the German counterattack in the Ardennes, the 84th was shifted to help stop the German advance. The 84th drove into Germany against strong resistance crossing the Roer and Rhine Rivers then advancing to the Elbe River to link up with Soviet Forces on May 2, 1945. For actions in World War II, the brigade was awarded nine battle streamers.

The 84th Reconnaissance Company disbanded in 1959 and was then immediately reconstituted (less 3rd Platoon) in the Regular Army as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 167th Infantry Brigade. On August 26, 1963, the 167th Infantry Brigade was redesignated Headquarters and Headquarters Company 1st Brigade 25th Infantry Division and activated at Schofield Barracks. Arriving in Vietnam on April 29, 1966, the 1st Brigade participated in all 12 campaigns of the 25th Division receiving a Valorous Unit Award for Tay Ninh Province. The 1st Brigade departed Vietnam on December 8, 1970.

For almost two years, the Army's strategic reserve in the Pacific was the 1st Brigade 25th Infantry Division. In 1972 the Army directed that the 25th Division be increased in strength to more effectively carry out its Cold War missions. As light infantry, the 25th was rapidly deployable by air and maximized for executing any mission in the Pacific area and the Far East. With the collapse of the Soviet Union, the brigade's mission expanded to include world wide peacekeeping duties. Elements of the brigade served in Haiti during Operation Uphold Democracy and as the United Nations peacekeeping force in the Sinai Desert between Egypt and Israel.

In 1995, the 1st Brigade and other elements of the division from Schofield Barracks were reassigned to Fort Lewis Washington. On January 16, 2002, the 1st Brigade 25th Infantry Division was designated as the Army's second Initial Brigade Combat Team and began reorganizing from a light infantry brigade to the IBCT configuration. As part of that transformation a third infantry battalion, the 3rd Battalion, 21st Infantry was reactivated March 16, 2002. On May 16, 2002, the 2nd Squadron, 14th Cavalry was activated as the brigade's reconnaissance surveillance and target acquisition squadron. Company D, 52nd Infantry was added to the brigade as a TOW equipped anti-tank company.

The 1st Brigade is now designated as a Stryker Brigade and continues its transformation. The brigade consists of the 1st Battalion 5th Infantry, the 3rd Battalion 21st Infantry, the 1st Battalion 24th Infantry, the 2nd Squadron 14th Cavalry, the 2nd Battalion 8th Field Artillery, the 25th Support Battalion, Company D, 52nd Infantry, 73rd Engineer Company, 184th Military Intelligence Company, 176th Signal Company and the 125th Combat Service Support Company.

3rd Stryker Brigade Combat Team, 2nd Infantry Division

The 3rd Stryker Brigade Combat Team was established as the 1st Provisional Brigade on August 11, 1917 in Syracuse, New York. Redesignated on September 22, 1917 as Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 3rd Infantry Brigade, it was assigned to the 2nd Infantry Division. A month later the brigade was sent to France where it saw heavy fighting as part of the American Expeditionary Force in World War I. Third Brigade distinguished itself in combat and was the highest decorated American unit earning six battle streamers for its participation in major campaigns of Aisne, Aisne-Marne, Lorraine 1918, Ile de France 1918, St. Michiel, and Meuse-Croix de Guerre and three streamers for the battles Chateau-Thierry, Aisne-Mame, and Meuse-Argonne. The French yellow and

Units

green forragere symbolizes this accomplishment, and it is still worn on the left shoulder of every soldier assigned to the brigade.

Following the end of the war, 3rd Brigade remained in Germany for a period of one year as part of the U.S. Army of Occupation. In late 1919, the brigade returned to Fort Sam Houston, Texas and was subsequently deactivated on October 9, 1939.

On February 1, 1963, 3rd Brigade was reactivated and reassigned to the 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Georgia. On July 1, 1965, 3rd Brigade moved to Korea where its mission was to guard the Western Corridor. The brigade was known as the Frontline Brigade for its service along the Korean DMZ. From the mid 60's to the early 90's, the brigade was involved in combating multiple North Korean intrusions and infiltrations. Relieved of its mission by the Republic of Korea, the brigade was deactivated on September 16, 1992.

On March 29, 1995 the 3rd Brigade was reactivated at Fort Lewis, Washington as part of I Corps with the mission of reinforcing the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea. In late 1999, the Chief of Staff of the Army designated the Arrowhead Brigade as the Initial Brigade Combat Team (IBCT). The IBCT is the first stepping-stone towards the "Objective Force" of the 21st century. The new armored vehicle for the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT) is named in honor of two Medal of Honor recipients – Pfc. Stuart Stryker and Spc Robert F. Stryker. On 6 June 2002, immediately following a demonstration of the deployability of the Stryker from a C-17 Globemaster aircraft, the Stryker began fielding with the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT). The brigade's mission will be to deploy anywhere in the world within 96 hours to protect and defend the interests of the United States of America. The brigade is comprised of 1st Battalion 23rd Infantry Regiment; 5th Battalion 20th Infantry Regiment; 2nd Battalion 3rd Infantry Regiment, 1st Squadron 14th Cavalry Regiment; 1st Battalion 37th Field Artillery Regiment, and 296th Brigade Support Battalion.

Formed on June 26, 1912, the 23rd Infantry Regiment has tirelessly embodied its motto "We serve," participating in over 50 battles as a part of eight wars from the war of 1812 to Vietnam; and is one of the most decorated infantry units in army history originally designated the 2nd Armored Regiment assigned to the 3rd Armored Division. Currently, 1st Battalion, 23rd Infantry Regiment is part of the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 5th Battalion, 20th Infantry Regiment was originally constituted on May 3, 1861 in the Regular Army as Company E, 2nd Battalion, 11th Infantry. It is credited with 12 civil war campaigns to include Manassas, Anietam, Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg. It has also served in the Spanish American War,

Fort Lewis

World War I, World War II, and Korea. It currently serves as one of three Infantry Battalions as part of the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 3rd Infantry Regiment — the very first American Regiment — was constituted on June 3, 1784 in the Regular Army. Second Battalion was designated as Company B, 3rd Infantry on May 22, 1816. It fought with the regiment during the Mexican War, Indian Wars, American Civil War, Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection. On July 1, 1957, Company B was reorganized and redesignated as HHC, 2nd Battle Group, 3rd Infantry. On March 23, 1966, 2nd Battalion, 3rd Infantry was activated for the first time at Fort Benning, Georgia. Shortly thereafter, the Regiment fought in the Vietnam War and distinguished themselves through their actions in both the Tet and Sanctuary Counter-offenses. Although 2nd Battalion 3rd Infantry Regiment was inactivated on October 15, 1970 at Fort Benning, Georgia, it was reactivated on March 15, 2001, as part of the 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Washington as part of the Army's new Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

1st Squadron, 14th Cavalry Regiment was constituted in the Regular Army on February 2, 1901 at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. The 14th Cavalry Regiment took part in the campaigns in the Philippines, the Mexican campaigns, the European Theater of World War II. After the second world war, it was reconstituted as the 14th Constabulary Regiment, where it defended freedom's frontier in the Fulda Gap. 1st Squadron, 14th Cavalry Regiment (RSTA Squadron), was activated on September 15, 2000 as part of the 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 1st Battalion, 37th Field Artillery Regiment traces its lineage to Camp Lewis, Washington, where it was organized as Battery A, 37th Field Artillery in July 1918. In World War II and Korea, the battalion fired in support of the 2nd Infantry Division where it received universal recognition for its valorous service. It now serves as part of 3rd Brigade,

Units

2nd Infantry Division Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 296th Brigade Support Battalion was activated on December 15, 1944 as headquarters and headquarters detachment, 296th Quartermaster Battalion (mobile) at Camp Bowie, Texas. During the Korean War, the Frontline Battalion supported American and allied soldiers in difficult terrain and extreme weather conditions. Currently, the 296th is part of 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

Company C, 52nd Infantry Regiment was constituted on May 15, 1917 in the Regular Army as Company C, 52nd Infantry. The company served in World War I, World War II, and Vietnam, where it earned numerous campaign streamers, the Presidential Unit Citation, and two Meritorious Unit Commendations. It currently serves as Company C, 52nd Anit-tank (AT) as part of 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division's Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

209th Military Intelligence Company existed as a Counter-Intelligence Detachment during the Korean War. It participated in 8 campaigns, and was awarded 2 Meritorious Unit Citations and the Republic of Korea Presidential Unit Citation. It was inactivated on October 16, 1988, and reactivated on September 15, 2000 as part of 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 18th Engineer Company (combat) was activated on October 16, 1939 at Fort Devens, Massachusetts. The company served in the Aleutian Islands Campaign where it earned the meritorious unit award. It was redesignated as the 18th Engineer Construction Company on June 3, 1947. They were transferred as part of a joint task force to Eniwstok Atoll, Marshall Islands from November 30, 1947 through

Units

Fort Lewis

March 12, 1948. The company was inactivated at Fort Wainwright, Alaska on October 1, 1963 and reactivated at Fort Lewis, Washington on June 19, 1972. It was a part of the 168th Engineer Battalion which was reactivated at Fort Lewis, Washington in April 1995. The 168th was inactivated on September 15, 2000, and left behind one company reorganized as the 18th Engineer Company, as part of 3rd Brigade's reorganization as the Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

The 334th Signal Company was constituted January 6, 1943 in the Army as the 33rd Signal Company. Activated January 10, 1943 at Camp Pinedale, California. It was allotted on November 6, 1967 to the Regular Army; concurrently redesignated as the 33rd Signal Company and activated in Thailand. It was inactivated July 1, 1969 in Thailand, reactivated February 1, 1980 at Fort Lewis, Washington, inactivated July 15, 1987 at Fort Lewis, Washington and reactivated on September 15, 2000 at Fort Lewis, Washington as part of 3rd Brigade, 2nd Infantry Division's Stryker Brigade Combat Team (SBCT).

62nd Medical Brigade

Proud and steadfast, the 62d Medical Brigade has been a part of the Fort Lewis community since 1968. The brigade provides I Corps and other Forces Command units a rapidly deployable corps and echelon above corps medical force capability consisting of command and control, air and ground medical evacuation, forward resuscitative surgery, hospitalization, area medical support, combat stress control, preventive medicine, medical logistics and dental support. When deployed the 62nd Medical Brigade will include professional fillers from the Western Regional Support Command and Western Regional Dental Command.

Subordinate units assigned to the 62nd Medical Brigade include: HHC, 62nd Medical Company; 47th Combat Support Hospital; 54th Medical Company (Air Ambulance); 514th Medical Company (Ground Ambulance); 520th and 547th Area Support Medical Companies; 551st Medical Company (Logistics); 673rd Medical Company (Dental Services); 250th Forward Surgical Team (Airborne); 102nd Forward Surgical Team; 98th Medical Detachment (Combat Stress Control); 227th Preventive Medicine Detachment (Sanitation); 3rd Medical Team (Infectious Disease Control); 53rd Medical Team (Head and neck surgery); and the 252nd Medical Team (Neurosurgery).

The 62d Medical Brigade ensures its Combat Health Support readiness through a robust operational training and support program executed at the Joint Readiness Training Center, National Training Center, Yakima Training Center, and at CONUS and OCONUS exercises. While on Fort Lewis, subordinate units hone critical clinical skills and assist in maintaining a healthy deployable force through cooperative programs with Madigan Army Medical Center and the I Corps Joint Medical Training Center. Garrison support also includes "Dust Off," aeromedical evacuation and Military Assistance to Safety and Traffic (MAST) provided by the air ambulances of the 54th Medical Company (AA) to transport injured or ill military and civilian patients to supporting medical facilities.

The 62nd Medical Brigade annually sponsors the Expert Field Medical Badge Training and Testing for I Corps and Fort Lewis, and supports the Reserve Officers Training Corps National Advanced Leadership Camp. The brigade provides both medical and regimental activity support to ROTC training.

The 62nd Medical Brigade lineage and honors include four campaign streamers for World War II (Rhineland, Central Europe, Northern France and Normandy). One campaign streamer for the liberation of Kuwait, one streamer for the defense of Saudi Arabia and another streamer for Operation Restore Hope in Somalia. Most recently the brigade has deployed numerous personnel and units in support of Operation Enduring Freedom.

Units

The 62nd Medical Brigade is trained and ready to put Combat Health Support on the ground when and where needed in order to support the fighting men and women of our Armed Services.

66th Aviation Brigade

The 66th Aviation Brigade (Corps) was activated in 1986. This Washington National Guard unit is the largest aviation brigade in the Army with subordinate commands in 13 different states. The headquarters is located at Fort Lewis, WA, along with nine additional subordinate units with a total of over 600 soldiers assigned.

Aircraft from the 66th Aviation Brigade (Corps) located at Gray Army Airfield include UH-1s' (Iroquois); UH-60s' (Blackhawk); CH-47s' (Chinook); OH-58s' (Kiowa). All are supported from the Army Aviation Support Facility #1 at Gray Army Airfield. The unit supports many of the active component units here at Fort Lewis in a variety of missions. Examples would be ROTC support missions; airborne operations and long range surveillance team insertions. Aircraft from the 66th Aviation Brigade (Corps) have also responded to Washington State emergencies which have included earthquakes, floods, fires and riots.

201st Military Intelligence Brigade

The 201st Military Intelligence Brigade, created Sept. 1, 1987, represents the nucleus of I Corps' intelligence support. It is a "total force" unit with the 502nd, 14th MI Battalions, and the Army Reserve, 373rd MI Battalion.

The 502nd Military Intelligence Battalion originally deactivated in Taegu, Korea, Sept. 1, 1952, and provided vital and timely intelligence support during and after the Korean War until it was deactivated in 1955. Reactivated at Yongsan, Korea, in 1961, the 502nd provided key analytical research on the developing North Korean Army until they were deactivated again in 1978. Reactivated at Fort Lewis on Oct. 1, 1986, 502nd now has four active component companies.

The 14th Military Intelligence Battalion was activated at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, on November 24, 1965. On Feb. 10, 1966, the unit deployed to the Republic of Vietnam, directly supporting the efforts of the 82nd Airborne Division, Special Forces elements, the 196th Light Infantry Brigade and the XVIII Airborne Corps until inactivation in January 1973. The 14th MI reactivated at Fort Lewis Dec. 16, 1988. The battalion consists of four active component companies and one reserve component.

555th Engineer Group

The "Triple Nickel" activated at Fort Lewis Jan. 16, 1993, from elements of the 15th Engineer Battalion (9th Infantry Division) and the 7th Engineer Brigade from Germany.

The group's mission is to deploy worldwide to provide command and control and engineer support for Army and joint/combined contingency operations.

Units

Subordinate units include Headquarters and Headquarters Company, the 864th Engineer Battalion (Combat) (Heavy); the 14th Combat Engineer Battalion (Corps); and the 87th Engineer Detachment (Firefighters).

The 864th Engineer Battalion (Combat) (Heavy) constructs and rehabilitates roads, airfields, buildings and utilities. The battalion maintains an extensive construction program serving the Fort Lewis community. The battalion deployed to Saudi Arabia during Operation Desert Storm and has deployed to the southwestern United States to support the border counter-drug task force, fought forest fires in Idaho, and performed numerous construction projects in Thailand during Cobra Gold '97.

The 14th Engineer Battalion (Corps) is the active Army's only wheeled engineer battalion. The 14th is specifically configured to provide combat engineer support to light infantry operations.

The battalion commanded the group's firefighting task force in Idaho and regularly provides engineer support to units at the Joint Readiness Training Center and the National Training Center.

The 87th Engineer Detachment (Firefighters), one of only two active duty firefighting detachments in the Army, works regular shifts with the Fort Lewis Fire Department providing tactical firefighting support to Army and Air Force operations.

593d Corps Support Group

The 593d Corps Support Group is the largest unit on Fort Lewis. It supports I Corps and other Fort Lewis units with direct support supply and maintenance, transportation services and materiel management.

The 593d CSG activated at Fort Lewis March 21, 1973, and traces its lineage to World War II.

The group consists of the 44th Corps Support Battalion, the 57th Transportation Battalion and the 80th Ordnance Battalion.

The 593d CSG has earned three Meritorious Unit Commendation Medals, a Philippines Presidential Unit

Citation and the Republic of Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with Palm.

In the last decade, the 593rd CSG has participated in Operations Desert Shield, Desert Storm and Desert Farewell; deployed troops to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba to support Haitian refugee Camps; supported the Hurricane Andrew relief effort in Florida; deployed to Somalia for operations restore Hope and Continue Hope; and most recently formed the JTF Aguila headquarters in El Salvador for Hurricane Mitch relief effort.

1115th Signal Battalion

The 1115th Signal Battalion, dual-hatted as the Directorate of Information Management (DOIM), provides Information Mission Area support to I Corps and Fort Lewis and Yakima Training Center. It also supports active duty and reserve component units throughout the seven-state region consisting of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Montana, Nevada and California.

The military and civilian personnel assigned to the battalion provide communications for power projection to I Corps warfighters, and day-to-day communications to Fort Lewis. Services provided include telephone, email and Internet, automation and networking, records and publications management, data processing, video teleconferencing, telecommunications message center, and full postal services for all official mail.

Henry H. Lind Noncommissioned Officer Academy

The I Corps Henry H. Lind Non-commissioned Officer Academy is a Fort Lewis based Forces Command NCO Academy. The academy is charged with the mission of training and educating selected noncommissioned officers to become effective leaders, trainers, role models and standard bearers for the United States Army. Courses of instruction are geared toward qualified active, National Guard and Reserve soldiers at the Primary (PLDC) and the Basic

Units

Fort Lewis

(BNCOC) levels. The late Command Sgt. Maj. Henry H. Lind was a World War II and Korean War veteran.

TENANT UNITS

1st Special Forces Group (Airborne)

The 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne) is one of five active duty Special Forces Groups assigned to the U.S. Army Special Forces Command at Fort Bragg, N.C. The 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne) is tasked to support the U.S. Pacific Command by conducting special operations, in peace and war, in the Asia/Pacific Theater.

Special Forces soldiers are carefully selected, specially trained and capable of extended operations in extremely remote and hostile environments. 1st Special Forces Group's soldiers are language and culturally oriented to specific countries and regions in Asia. Their missions include unconventional warfare, special reconnaissance, direct action, foreign internal defense and counter terrorism.

The 1st Special Forces Group (Airborne) consists of three battalions, one of which is forward deployed to Okinawa, Japan. Each battalion has 18 "A" detachments manned by the Army's most highly trained soldiers equipped with state-of-the-art weapons and equipment. An "A" detachment consists of 12 team members, one officer, one warrant officer and 10 noncommissioned officers.

2nd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment

The 2nd Battalion of the 75th Ranger Regiment is a mobile, highly trained airborne ranger light infantry force. The Rangers are organized and prepared to conduct commando-type operations under any climate conditions and in urban or rural terrain.

The battalion maintains the capability of deploying rapidly, without prior notice, to any location worldwide. The Rangers can infiltrate by land, sea, or air and are capable of independent conventional and special operations for a limited duration. The Ranger Battalion trains in arctic, jungle, desert and mountainous environments throughout the year.

The 2nd Ranger Battalion was originally organized in October 1948, as an element of the 5307th Composite Unit (Provisional), better known as Merrill's Marauders, which was later redesignated the 75th Infantry. The battalion also traces its lineage through the six Ranger battalions of World War II, as well as the Airborne Ranger companies of the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

In 1973, the Army chief of staff, General Creighton Abrams directed the activation of the first battalion sized Ranger unit since World War II. He charted, "The Ranger Battalion is to be an elite, light and a proficient infantry battalion in the world. A battalion that can do things with its hands and weapons better than anyone ...Wherever the Ranger Battalion goes, it must be apparent that it is the best." In January 1974, the 1st Ranger Battalion activated at Fort Stewart, GA. The 2nd Ranger Battalion subsequently activated at Fort Lewis on October 1, 1974.

On October 25, 1983, the 1st and 2nd Ranger Battalions spearheaded Operation "Urgent Fury," the invasion of Grenada, with a low-level airborne assault onto Point Salinas airstrip. Because of the demonstrated effectiveness of the Rangers, the Army activated the regimental headquarters and the 3rd Ranger Battalion in 1984, both at Fort Benning, GA.

On December 20, 1989, the 2nd Ranger Battalion again distinguished itself during Operation "Just Cause," with a night combat airborne assault into Rio Hato airfield in the Republic of Panama. Both of these operations contributed significantly to the restoration of democracy on the Island of Grenada and in Panama.

Most recently, the battalion deployed to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and Les Cayes, Haiti to plan and conduct operations in support of Operation "Uphold Democracy" in September of 1994, and while undergoing jungle training at Fort Sherman, Panama, in December 1994, the battalion was called on to quell rioting inside Cuban refugee camps during Operation "Safe Haven."

By training 48 weeks a year, the 2nd Ranger Battalion remains poised to respond at a moment's notice to the directives of the National Command Authority in support of policies and objectives of the United States government. Every member of the Ranger Battalion is committed to the Ranger Creed and most importantly the motto, "Rangers Lead the Way."

Fourth ROTC Region

The Fourth ROTC Region manages 383 junior (high schools) and 77 senior (college) Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) programs.

Geographically, the Fourth Region is the largest of the Army's three regions covering 21 western states, Guam, American Samoa and the Marianas. The region has been headquartered at Fort Lewis since July 3, 1973.

Each summer, Fort Lewis hosts the National Advanced Leadership Camp. Approximately, 5,000 cadets from across the nation attended the 2002 camp to be trained and be evaluated on their potential to be Army officers.

Senior ROTC produces more than 70 percent of the Army's officer corps, commissioning approximately 3,800 officers annually for the Active Army, Army Reserve, and Army National Guard.

ROTC offers scholarships and financial assistance to qualified college students throughout the region. Successful completion of the training is a requirement for receiving a commission as a second lieutenant.

Junior ROTC motivates young people to be better citizens. The program builds self-esteem, confidence and teaches the importance of graduating from high school.

4th Brigade, 91st Division (Training Support)

The 4th Brigade, 91st Division (Training Support) is a group of highly trained and experienced Active Duty, Reserve and National Guard soldiers whose mission is to assist Reserve Component (RC) units in achieving and maintaining proficiency and readiness for mobilization and deployment in the event of a national emergency as part of our nation's contingency force. It does this by providing training assistance and support to near and long-range planning plans, objective evaluations, and enforcing the Army standards in training execution.

The brigade is organized as a tri-component unit (Active, Army National Guard and USAR) of the 91st Division (Training Support) and consists of ten subordinate AC and RC battalions consisting of Combat Arms, Combat Support and Combat Service Support elements. The 4th Brigade, 91st Division (Training Support) supports and provides training assistance and support to enhance readiness of units in the Army Reserve and Army National Guard throughout Washington, Oregon, Alaska and Idaho for over 332 units ranging from surgical detachments to combat maneuver brigades. The brigade works closely with USAR Regional Support Headquarters, RC units, National Guard state headquarters, I Corps Headquarters, and other supporting units to provide the best possible support.

Units

In addition to the normal peacetime training of these units, the brigade is also responsible for mobilization preparedness and training prior to deployment in the event of a national emergency. The brigade provides mobilization assistance teams and collective training support to the regional power projection platforms and power support platforms during mobilization.

The brigade also has an active Military Support to Civilian Authorities (MSCA) mission. It maintains liaison with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the state and local emergency management officials as the regional Department of Defense Coordinating Element to assist in the event of domestic emergencies such as earthquake, wildfire, flood, tornado, hurricane or acts of terrorism (weapons of mass destruction).

Training and Doctrine Command Brigade Coordination Cell

The Training and Doctrine Command Brigade Coordination Cell at Fort Lewis provides overall leadership of the Army's Interim Force Transformation process. The BCC, created in early FY 2000, provides direct support to the parent commands and the 6 Stryker Brigade Combat Teams executing transformation. At Fort Lewis the BCC is part of "Team Lewis", a Forces Command/TRADOC partnership providing transformation direction and assistance to I Corps and the Fort Lewis Stryker Brigades. Together, the BCC and I Corps compose a strong team for transformation, with the BCC providing intellectual and technical guidance across doctrine, training, leader development, organization, materiel, and soldier issues for transforming the brigades to their future design. The BCC interfaces directly with Department of the Army, the Army Material Command, the Army Test and Evaluation Command and the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Acquisition, Logistics and Technology, providing on the ground presence, expertise and coordination to turn the Army's vision for transformation into reality. The BCC is also charged with providing feedback to the institutional army supporting the transformation of follow-on Interim and Objective forces units.

USJFCOM Joint Regional Medical Planning Office

The USJFCOM Joint Regional Planning Office at Ft. Lewis, is a U.S. Atlantic Command unit staffed with Air Force, Navy and Army joint regional medical planners. The USJFCOM area of responsibility covers Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California.

The USJFCOM mission is to plan, integrate and execute USACOM regional medical for wartime contingencies, domestic disasters and national security emergencies. To accomplish this, it assesses regional medical resource capabilities of the DOD, other federal agencies, the states, and local healthcare facilities. The USJFCOM plans for and coordinates with USTRANSCOM, DOD and VA medical treatment facilities, and civilian National Disaster Medical System (NDMS) hospitals to effect casualty reception in the event of a major theater war.

During domestic disasters or national security emergencies, USJFCOM officers report to the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Emergency Support Function #8 (Health and Medical Services) as the DOD representative for medical issues. In this capacity, joint regional medical planners act as advisors to Joint Task Force commanders, Response Task Force commanders and Defense Coordinating Officers before, during and after civil emergencies and disasters.

Headquarters, 6th Military Police Group (CID)

Headquarters, 6th Military Police Group (CID) moved to Fort Lewis in 1993 from the Presidio of San

Fort Lewis

Fort Lewis

Francisco, Calif. This unit is the higher headquarters of CID units on post, the 22d Military Police Battalion (CID) and 44th Military Police Detachment (CID). The group's area of responsibility includes all Army installations west of the Mississippi River to Japan and South Korea, with a mission of investigating all serious crimes for the Army and providing tactical criminal investigative command and control to Army headquarters.

The 22d MP Bn. (CID) has the mission to investigate serious crimes and conduct sensitive or special investigations involving Army interest in the western states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, California, Nevada and Alaska. The mission also includes providing criminal investigative support to I Corps and the communities of Fort Lewis, Fort Irwin, Calif., Fort Wainwright and Fort Richardson, Alaska, and their sub-installations.

The 22d MP Bn. (CID) provides logistical security, criminal intelligence and investigative support in a combat environment for I Corps.

Fort Lewis Regional Flight Center

The Fort Lewis Regional Flight Center is an Operational Support Airlift Command unit staffed with a multi-component force. There are active Guard, active duty soldiers, and Department of the Army civilians who work to assist the Joint Operational Support Airlift center in performing OSA missions.

The unit's mission is to provide OSA support to all government agencies that have a need to travel in an official capacity whether it be stateside or overseas.

This mission does not change in time of local, regional or national emergency. In the wake of the attacks of September 11, 2001, OSACOM units throughout 52 states and territories provided immediate airlift support to all levels of federal government even during the Federal Aviation Administration grounding of all aircraft.

The Fort Lewis RFC provides fixed-wing OSA support to all services, government civilians, and some contractors who have a requirement for official business travel. Submit a DD Form 2768 through the local military airlift validator requesting support. The validator for Fort Lewis may be reached at Gray Army airfield Base Operations.

U.S. Army Center for Health Promotion and Preventive Medicine-West

The U.S. Army Center for Health Promotion and Preventive Medicine-West (USACHPPM-West) moved to Fort Lewis from Aurora, Colorado, in March 1999. USACHPPM-West provides preventive medicine support to over 100 Active, National Guard and Army Reserve installations in the 22 western United States including Alaska. A MEDCOM asset, USACHPPM-West is a subordinate command of the U.S. Army Center for Health Promotion and Preventive Medicine whose headquarters is in Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland.

The military and civilian personnel assigned to USACHPPM-West are organized into four technical divisions that provide support across a wide range of preventive medicine and public health disciplines.

The Environmental Health Engineering Division provides environmental engineering support to installations and units which includes sanitary evaluation of garrison and field potable water supplies; pollution prevention surveys and training; evaluation of hazardous and regulated medical waste management practices; air pollution assessment and environmental noise evaluation.

Units

The role of the Entomological Sciences Division is to maximize the Army's ability to protect soldiers and their families from the health threat posed by vector-borne diseases and medically important pests. ESD provides pest management field services, pesticide resistance evaluations, identification of medically important pests, pesticide resistance studies and genetic testing for vector-borne diseases such as Lyme Disease, Ehrlichiosis and Hantavirus.

The Industrial Hygiene Division provides support to identify, evaluate and control worker exposure to hazardous chemicals, biological, and physical agents on the job. Services include field surveys to identify or measure actual or potential hazards to workers, recommendation of appropriate engineering controls and/or personal protective equipment, and identification of soldiers and civilian personnel who may require medical surveillance to ensure their health and well being.

Soldiers trained to assist deployable forces meet the threat from disease and non-battle injury and exercise their force health protection responsibility staff the Field Preventive Medicine Division. This division provides training to field preventive medicine units to enhance their operational and readiness capability to support deployed forces by strengthening force health protection through the prevention of disease and non-battle injuries.

The Fort Lewis Dental Activity

The Fort Lewis Dental Activity consists of five on-post dental clinics, one of which is located at Madigan Army Medical Center (second floor of the Medical Mall). All dental specialties are represented at Fort Lewis. Each clinic has assigned units for which it is responsible. Members of these units can obtain dental care on either an emergency basis, or by scheduling an appointment.

Units

Active-duty personnel can receive emergency care at their assigned dental clinic on a walk-in basis Monday through Friday. For emergency care after duty hours, on weekends or holidays report to the Emergency Room at Madigan Army Medical Center.

Scheduled appointments for active-duty personnel can be obtained by going to or calling their assigned clinic at the following Dental Activity telephone numbers:

Dental Clinic #2967-5271
Dental Clinic #3967-3416
Okubo Dental Clinic967-4989
Hospital Dental Clinic ..968-1240

Spouses and children of active-duty service members are eligible to be enrolled in the Family Member Dental Plan. Sponsors must be on active duty for at least 30 days and must intend to remain on active duty for at least 24 months in order to enroll their family members. Enrolled family members may receive dental care from any licensed/authorized dentist in the civilian community. However, family members will get the greatest value from their Family Member Dental Plan coverage if they receive care from a United Concordia Companies, Inc. (UCCI) participating dentist.

Questions regarding dental services offered at Fort Lewis can be answered by calling the Dental Activity Headquarters at 968-4035.

The Veterinary Treatment Facility

The Fort Lewis VTF has merged with the McChord AFB VTF. The McChord VTF offers limited pet care for active duty and retired military personnel. The VTF treats pets for zoonotic and communicable diseases, gives routine vaccinations and issues health certificates for international and interstate travel. Health certificates are also required for child care (FCC) providers. The VTF is a non-appropriated activity; payment for drugs and supplies is due at time of appointment.

Pets living on post must be registered with the VTF within five working days of arrival.

Dogs must be on a leash and cats in a box or carrier. For safety, children under 12 years of age are not permitted in the clinic. Office hours are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and appointments may be made by calling 982-3951.

The stray animal facility will operate at Fort Lewis in Bldg. 9988, 967-2977/3988. It is the stray animal holding facility for Fort Lewis and McChord. Unclaimed pets are four Mobile Subscriber Equipment Signal battalions. Three National Guard signal battalions in Alabama and the 29th Signal Battalion, an active duty unit at Fort Lewis. The 29th Signal Battalion is the only active duty signal battalion supporting I Corps. The 29th Signal Battalion is tasked with providing mobile subscriber equipment support to the corps during training and deployment. The 29th Signal Battalion is the only active component unit that falls under a National Guard brigade commander.

The 142nd Signal Brigade is a key command and control asset for I Corps.

The 142nd Signal Brigade is a key command and control asset for I Corps. The 142nd has multichannel tactical satellite, mobile subscriber equipment, and tactical local area network capabilities to support any need the corps may have.

364th Civil Affairs Brigade

The 364th Civil Affairs Brigade was organized in Milwaukee, Oregon, in June 1950. The mission of the unit is to support the I Corps mission by providing Civil Affairs and Civil Military Operations planning and execution capabilities. The brigade soldiers minimize civilian interference with military operations, promote mission legitimacy, and ensure obligations to the civilian populace are met in the theater of operation. Civil affairs soldiers are among the most frequently activated in the Army Reserve. Overseas annual training deployment opportunities include Japan (Yama Sakura), Korea Philippines, Thailand (Cobra Gold) and other Pacific Rim countries.

Brigade soldiers have deployed to Grenada, Panama, Turkey, Bangladesh, Persian Gulf, Haiti, Guam, and Bosnia. The unit has prepared disaster preparedness planning surveys and participated in disaster relief exercises for Bangladesh, the Samoas, Coromos, Nepal, Mongolia, Macao, Palau, Micronesia, Kwajalien and New Guinea. The brigade has four assigned civil affairs battalions:

448th Civil Affairs Battalion,

Fort Lewis, Washington

407th Civil Affairs Battalion,

Arden Hills, Minnesota

425th Civil Affairs Battalion,

Santa Barbara, California

445th Civil Affairs Battalion,

311th Corps Support Command

The 311th Corps Support Command, headquarters in Los Angeles, CA, provides the command and control element to organize and deploy a combat service support structure that will execute the movements, material management, maintenance and medical services required to sustain and maintain America's Corps.

304th Corps Material Management Center

The 304th Corps Material Management Center is a multi-component United States Army Reserve organization with active duty and Reserve logistic soldiers stationed at Fort Lewis and in Los Angeles, California. The 304th CMMC performs integrated supply and maintenance management at COSCOM level and for all maintenance activities for which COSCOM has jurisdiction and responsibility.

Fort Lewis

13th Logistics Detachment

The 13th Logistics Detachment augments the transportation planning capability of a corps headquarters when a major relocation within a theater is planned for all or part of the corps, when the operations plan calls for deployment of the corps to a specific theater with an option of shifting assets to another theater of operations or when logistics planning for contingency operations in support of multiple operation plans in separate theaters is required. The detachment provides staff planning and supervision of movement and sustainment operations in support of the corps commander's guidance.

Fort Lewis

Logistics Task Force – Wright

Combining the efforts of 311th COSCOM, 304th CMMC and 13th Logistic Detachment, Logistics Task Force – Wright was established May 29, 2002 at Fort Lewis. The task force is responsible for command and control of all resident 311th COSCOM units, sub-elements, and assigned personnel, effectively organizing a standing task force to provide logistics support for Stryker Brigade Transformation and I Corps missions. The task force is named after Maj. Gen. James M. Wright, 45th Quartermaster General.

177th Military Police Brigade

The 177th Military Police Brigade is a Michigan National Guard unit located in Taylor Michigan. The 177th Military Police Brigade participated in all the major I Corps training events. Usually associated with this participation are the 210th Military Police Battalion (Michigan Army National Guard); 112 Military Police Battalion (Mississippi Army National Guard) and the 504th Military Police Battalion, located at Fort Lewis.

During peacetime the 177th Military Police Brigade provides command and control to the 210th Military Police Battalion, 156th Signal Battalion, and 1st Battalion 182nd Field Artillery Battalion. They are all Michigan Army National Guard units. In wartime their mission is to provide command and control of up to six combat support military police battalions, in a theater army or corps area.

82d Rear Operations Center

The unit serves as the nucleus of the I Corps Rear Command Post, providing the operations, intelligence, planning, and liaison cells. The unit participates in all of the corps' major exercises and routinely deploys to Korea, Japan and Thailand in support of I Corps.

Based out of Lake Oswego Armory, Lake Oswego, Oregon, the unit is made up of 52 personnel and is commanded by a colonel who also serves as the Corps G3 (Rear). The senior enlisted member of the unit serves as the Corps Rear Command Post Operations Sergeant Major and acts as the unit Command Sergeant Major. The unit is represented full time at I Corps headquarters by an assigned officer at DSN 357-0306.

The 82 Rear Operations Center was originally organized in 1936 and received federal recognition on April 10 of the same year as Headquarters Battery, 218th Field Artillery Regiment.

The unit has since been reorganized several times as a reconnaissance company in the 641st Tank Destroyer Battalion; Company C, 98th Chemical Mortar Battalion; Headquarters Battery, 41st Division Artillery; Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Emergency Operations Headquarters. Finally, on May 1, 1971, the unit was reorganized for the last time as the 82nd Support Center (Rear Area Operations).

It was redesignated the 82nd Rear Operations Center on July 16, 1992.

During World War II in the Pacific, the unit earned the Philippine Presidential Unit Citation and a battle streamer. The unit has served in Papua, Luzon, New Guinea, the Bismark Archipelago, the Western Pacific Campaign and most recently in Bosnia.

35th Engineer Brigade

The 35th Engineer Brigade is headquartered at Fort Leonard Wood Missouri, the home of the Army's engineers. It has the mission to command and control combat engineer units assigned to I Corps for world-wide missions regardless of the spectrum of operations and provide engineer units for task force missions to joint task forces conducting humanitarian, civil action, peacekeeping operations and performing emergency duty at home. Two members of the staff engineer section are members of the 35th Engineer Brigade serving on active duty at Fort Lewis. Their mission is to provide continuous engineer planning and coordination with the I Corps staff and to develop engineer plans and orders.

The 35th Engineer Brigade provides assistance, guidance and coordination to six subordinate engineer groups and numerous engineer battalions and separate companies. Its assigned units span the nation from Maine to Hawaii.

The brigade also serves as the Joint Forces Engineer Component Command for the execution of Operation Alaska Road. OAR is a multi-year joint construction project on Annette Island, Alaska. OAR's mission is to construct a 14.7 mile road through steep wilderness terrain to improve the quality of life and provide economic opportunity to the Metlkatla Indian community.

The 35th Engineer Brigade actively supports the Maneuver Support Center and the Fort Leonard Wood Community. Members of the brigade are actively involved in the Engineer Pre-Command course, helping to mentor the next generation of engineer battalion commanders. Other members of the brigade hold key positions at the U.S. Army Maneuver Support Battalion Lab in their civilian careers. Always on the cutting edge, the 35th Engineer Brigade proudly supports America's Corps and America's Army. ■

Driver's Licenses

While stationed at Fort Lewis, soldiers must possess a valid driver's license. Soldiers who are Washington state residents or claim Washington state as home-of-record must possess a Washington state driver's license. Soldiers may possess a valid driver's license from any state, including their home-of-record state or territory. Territory licenses acceptable in Washington are those from Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Some states have "moratorium" laws. If you had a valid license when you entered the service, it may continue to be valid as long as you are on active duty. Check with your state to make sure this provision applies to you. When your license is due to expire, or if it has already expired, write or call your issuing State Department of Licensing to notify them that you are in the military and are currently stationed out of state. They will explain the state requirements to keep your license valid. Don't assume the military clause is automatic. There are no automatic military extensions for any territory license.

Spouses of soldiers assigned to Fort Lewis who will have children enrolled in the public school system, or who will be receiving public assistance (i.e., food stamps), or wish to apply for in-state tuition fees must apply for a Washington state driver's license within 30 days of arrival. You are considered a Washington resident when you establish a home in the state, register to vote, receive state benefits, apply for any state license or seek in-state tuition fees.

Fort Lewis

Transportation

The Department of Licensing has more than 60 offices throughout Washington where drivers are tested and new licenses are issued. Check your phone book under "Licensing, Department of Licensing" for the one nearest you. Washington driver's licenses, renewable every four years, are $14. For your first Washington license there is an additional $7 examination fee. There are additional fees and examinations for motorcycle endorsements and commercial driver's licenses.

License Plates

Upon arrival in Washington state, soldiers are allowed to keep the state license plate that is currently displayed on their vehicle. This includes license plates from U.S. territories. Upon expiration of that license plate, the soldier must obtain a Washington state or home-of-record license plate. Vehicles with USAREUR, NATO, or USA registration/plates have 30 days (Fort Lewis policy) to obtain either Washington or home-of-record plates.

Washington has a staggered licensing system: plates are valid 12 months from the date of purchase. There is a $15 Vehicle Identification Number fee. The nearest licensing office is at 10644 Bridgeport Way SW, Tacoma, (588-9049), 16116 Meridian East, Suite A, Puyallup (841-0245), 5442 South Tacoma Way, Tacoma (475-4112), 12166 Pacific Avenue, Tacoma (537-3112), and 25410 74th Ave S, Kent (872-6019). The office of the Pierce County Auditor will be glad to answer any questions about vehicle registration. They are located at 2401 S. 35th Street, Tacoma (798-7547). For 24-hour information, call (253) 798-3649.

You can purchase plates in Pierce, Thurston or King counties. Private companies authorized by the state to issue license plates can be found in the yellow pages. The closest location to Fort Lewis is 12500 Bridgeport Way S.W., Tacoma. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and the first and last Saturday of the month from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The phone number to this licensing agent is (253) 588-7786.

When purchasing Washington state license plates, you can submit a Washington State Form L, an affidavit that you are a military nonresident. Form L exempts you from excise tax, but you may have to pay other taxes if you register your car in Washington. These are known as either a "sales tax" or "use tax," depending on how long you have owned your car.

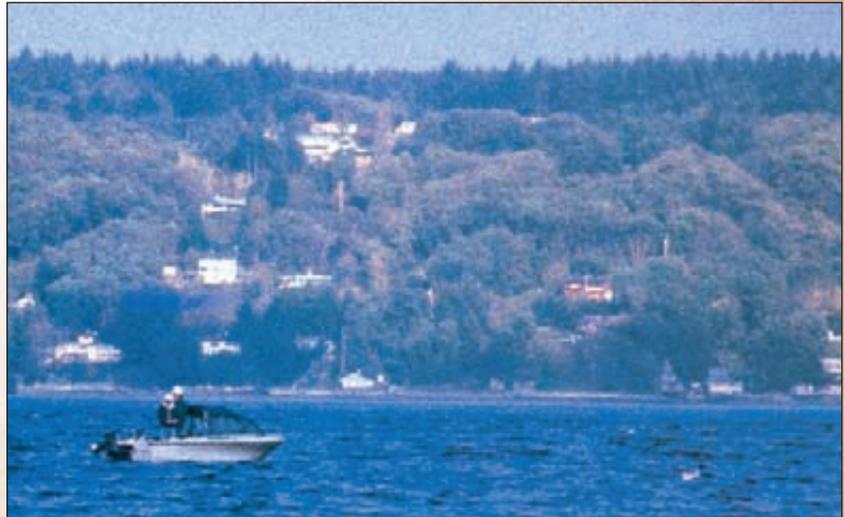

The local 8.5 percent sales tax is paid on purchases of any nature. This tax is levied on the full price of both new and used cars purchased in the state.

To avoid this sales tax, register your car in your home state and get license plates before you take the car from the dealer.

There is a use tax that applies to new or used vehicles purchased and brought in from outside of Washington. This is also 8.5 percent and is applied instead of sales tax. To avoid this, register the car in your home-of-record state at the time of purchase.

State Ferries

Washington has one of the country's largest and most scenic ferry systems, with more than 30 craft on Puget Sound, the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Columbia River. The ferry system offers an inexpensive way to see the Sound from one-day trips to a weekend or longer excursions. Cruise through the San Juan Islands, a group of more than 170 islands dotting northern Puget Sound, or travel up to Canada. For schedules, rates and travel ideas, stop by the Leisure Travel Center on post, call toll-free 1-800-843-3779, or write: Washington State Ferries, 801 Alaska Way, Coleman Dock, Seattle, WA, 98104-1487.

Drinking and Driving

Washington has some of the country's toughest drinking and driving laws — and they are enforced on and off post. The severity of punishment for a driving while impaired (DWI) conviction depends on your blood alcohol concentration (BAC) level; whether you've had other DWI convictions (anywhere); and your age.

For a first conviction, you'll be jailed for one day to one year, face a fine and assessments of $685 to $8,125, and lose your civilian/state driving privilege/license for 90 to 365 days. A second conviction results in 30 to 365 days in jail, a fine and assessments of $925 to $8,125, and loss of your civilian driving privilege/license for 2 years to 900 days. You'll also attend remedial education and be evaluated for possible court-mandated rehabilitation/treatment.

For those 21 or older, the presumed BAC level for DWI in Washington (and on Fort Lewis) is .08 percent. Police officers will normally cite for DWI an individual whose driving appears impaired — regardless of the BAC level.

For those under 21, a BAC of .02 will result in an administrative suspension of the individual's state driving privilege for 90 days on a first offense. For a second offense, the suspension is for the longer of one year or until reaching the age of 21. Additionally, the driver may also be charged with DWI.

Regardless of court action, age or rank, soldiers involved in a DWI also receive a formal General Officer reprimand and lose on-post driving privileges (meaning they legally can't drive on post) for a year.

Given the above, the responsible choice is DRIVE SOBER — or GET OTHER TRANSPORTATION — and insist that fellow soldiers, family members and friends abide by that same choice.

Post Registration

You must register your vehicles on post within five days of arrival. The registration building is located in Bldg. 2140. Call 967-7668 for hours of operation.

You'll need the vehicle registration, a valid driver's license, a military ID and proof of accident liability insurance in the minimum amount, 25-50-10 ($25,000 bodily injury per person, $50,000 bodily injury per accident and $10,000 property damage). Washington state requires liability insurance for all vehicles registered in the state.

Fort Lewis is located within an area subject to air pollution controls. All motor vehicles registered on the installation must undergo a Washington state certified emission system inspection once every two years regardless of the state or county in which the vehicle is registered. For information regarding emission system inspection locations and cost, call 1-800-272-3780.

Motorcycle Requirements

Motorcycle drivers must have a motorcycle endorsement on their driver's license. If their current driver's license does not have the motorcycle endorsement, the service member must either apply and test for a Washington state driver's license with motorcycle endorsement or return to their driver's license issuing state to have the motorcycle endorsement added. Washington state will not place a motorcycle endorsement on a driver's license issued from another state. Fort Lewis requires motorcycle operators to complete a certified safety course prior to registering their motorcycle on the installation.

Driving Regulations

The speed limit on Fort Lewis is 25 mph, unless posted otherwise. When passing troops, it is 10 mph. In family housing areas the limit is 20 mph. Washington state law and post regulations require the use of seatbelts at all times while riding in a car. Children under age 4 or less than 40 pounds must be restrained in an approved child safety seat. This provision is strictly enforced at Fort Lewis.

Seat Belt Law

Washington seat belt law allows a enforcement officer to conduct a traffic stop on a vehicle when one or more of the occupants are observed not wearing a seat belt.

If a occupant is 15 years or younger and is not wearing a seat belt then the driver is issued a ticket for each occupant under 15 years not wearing a seat belt. If the occupant not wearing a seat belt is 16 years or older, than the individual will be issued the ticket.

Bicycle Registration

A bicyclist is required to comply with the same safe driving rules as motorists. In addition, bicyclists must:

- Keep to the extreme side of the roadway.
- Wear bicycle helmet
- Carry no more passengers than there are seats available.
- Keep at least one hand on the handlebars at all times.
- Have headlights and taillights or reflectors.
- Have adequate brakes.
- Never perform stunts on the streets or highways.
- Secure bicycles when not in use.

The Provost Marshal also strongly recommends that all bicycles be registered at the Vehicle Registration Office. ■

Housing Office

Basic Allowance for Housing

If you receive BAH, you should report to the Housing Office in Bldg. 2150 as soon as you sign in for duty. If eligible, you can be placed on the waiting list for on post housing. The date you left your last duty station normally determines your place on the list. If you are not eligible for government quarters, the housing office can help you find suitable off post housing.

Temporary Lodging

Families may stay in temporary lodging such as the Fort Lewis Lodge (guest house), while waiting for on post housing or locating housing off post. If lodging facilities are full, arrangements can be made by the desk clerk for local hotels at a reduced rate.

The 149-room lodge is located near the Post Exchange, Commissary, library, bank, credit union and many other facilities. It has a small playground and plenty of parking. Additional guest house facilities, six cabins, are located on Main Post and controlled by the Lodge. Reservations for PCS and TDY personnel can be made by writing Fort Lewis Lodge, P.O. Box 33085, Fort Lewis, WA 98433-0085, or call commercial (253) 964-0211, 967-2815 or DSN: 357-5051 or email lodging@lewis.army.mil. For information on rates contact the Fort Lewis Lodge, reservations desk is open 24 hours a day seven days a week for customer convenience.

Off-Post Housing

The Military Relocation Center, located in Bldg. 2150, keeps a list of available apartments and houses for sale or rent. The service, available to both soldiers and Department of the Army civilians, also provides maps and booklets about the local area.

Generally, the price range for rental housing, not including utilities, is from $625 to $925 for two-bedroom units and $875 to $1500 for three-bedroom units. Hard-to-find four-bedroom units are $1200 and up. Rates for furnished housing tend to approach the high figures given. Furnished private housing, especially with two or more bedrooms, is limited.

Many landlords will not rent to soldiers with big dogs, particularly Rottweilers, Pit Bulls, Dobermans and Chows.

Landlords usually run credit checks. It is advisable to fix your credit issues before applying for rentals.

For more information call 967-5334.

Fort Lewis

Utility Deposits

Soldiers may find it a good idea to check into the "Save Money and Renew Trust" (SMART) Deposit Club.

The SMART Club was started to help soldiers offset the cost of setting up house in the area by waiving utility deposits. Here's how it works:

After you find a place to live and get the utilities deposit requirement, you can pay $5 to join the Fort Lewis Federal Credit Union. Then, join the SMART Club by paying a commitment fee of five percent of the amount to be waived. The Army Emergency Relief Fund can help with set-up fees. This money will be used to create a pool of funds covering contingencies such as members separating or transferring early.

The next step is to set up an allotment for 10 percent of the waived amount to a personal savings account, in which you pledge to guarantee the deposits. The allotment starts one to three months after a soldier's arrival. Soldiers who cannot start an allotment may make other arrangements for making deposits into the account.

The credit union then gives you a certificate for each deposit waived, which you either take to the respective utility company or mail with the first payment. The utility waives the deposit, starts service, and you're "good to go."

Once you have a one-year good payment record with the utilities, they will return your certificates. You can present the certificate to the credit union to free your account to withdraw or continue, as you choose. You may also obtain from the utilities a "good credit" letter, which you can use to secure deposit waivers when you're assigned to another installation.

For more information on the SMART Club, contact the Fort Lewis Federal Credit Union, Bldg. 2201 at 12th and Pendleton, phone 964-3113.

On-Post Housing

Fort Lewis has taken great steps towards providing soldiers and their families the high quality housing they are entitled.

Fort Lewis family housing is participating in the Residential Communities

Housing

Initiative program being conducted by the Department of the Army. The Army has chosen a management and development partner (Equity Residential Properties has teamed up with Lincoln Property Company) from the private sector to manage the family housing communities, to build new housing, renovate existing housing, demolish and rebuild existing housing in other areas.

There are 3637 family quarters at Fort Lewis. The houses come equipped with stoves, refrigerators and in some areas, dishwashers, and disposals. Many of the units have either a carport or garage.

Fort Lewis quarters are all located within 11 housing villages.

Residing in on-post housing is voluntary, not mandatory, except for personnel assigned to key and essential positions, as designated by the I Corps commander. All soldiers with a family housing requirement are entitled to apply for on-post housing. All soldiers assigned to Fort Lewis must attend a Housing Briefing. The briefings are held every weekday at 9 a.m. in the Housing Office. Located in Waller Hall, Building 2150, Liggett Ave. Eligible soldiers must complete an on-post application at the briefing. A copy of your PCS orders must accompany the application. Soldiers are placed on the waiting list based on their rank on bedroom requirement. Soldiers are responsible for keeping the housing office informed of changes in eligibility status, unit, duty and home phone numbers. Waiting lists are updated weekly and can be checked by visiting the housing office. For more information call 966-HOME.

Community Life

A good way to get acquainted with the community when a family first moves on post, is to make contact with the mayor of the housing area and find out about the neighborhood council. The council is a way family members can make a difference in their own quality of life.

The mayor represents his or her community at regular meetings with post officials, and reports on activities and problems. This gives the command a direct communication link to concerns and opinions of family members.

Welcome committees, area newsletters, children's Christmas, Easter and Halloween events. Neighborhood Watch and family recreation are sponsored through the all-volunteer Community Life program.

The Community Life Program promotes the active involvement of Army families in improving the quality of post life and fostering a strong sense of community. The housing areas on post have 10 volunteer mayors. The mayors act as a means through which residents can implement positive programs and have input on post policies.

To find out what is happening in your housing area, to meet your mayor or to volunteer, call the Installation Volunteer Coordinator at 967-2324.

Pets

If you move into on-post housing, pets must be registered within 5 working days. Pets allowed include dogs and cats, small caged animals, birds, tropical and/or gold fish. No more than 2 dogs and cats in any combination will be allowed per dwelling unit.

Pets must be registered with the McChord Veterinary Facility. Tag numbers will be issued with proof of current vaccinations. Tag numbers must be supplied to the housing office. Pet immunizations are available at the McChord Veterinary Treatment Facility by appointment only. For more information call 982-3951.

Weapons Registration

All privately owned weapons, to include rifles, shotguns, handguns, and antique firearms, will be registered within three days after arriving at Fort Lewis. To register your weapons with the Fort Lewis Provost Marshal, you must report to the Vehicle Registration Office to obtain a registration card. Your unit commander must sign this card for all E-6s and below.

Once you return the card to the registration office, various checks will be conducted to ensure you are legally in possession of the firearms. You can return to the registration office in seven to 10 working days to pick up your approved weapons registration card.

Shopping Services

The Fort Lewis Shopping Mall provides customers the convenience of one-stop shopping at the PX.

In addition to the main store, the mall houses a garden shop, delicatessen, snack stand, and optometry shop. Four bubble-type shops house a variety of concessions on a rotating basis.

The mini mall contains a pharmacy, furniture store, clothing sales, Class Six store, shoe repair, Chicken Loft, and several other AAFES concession shops under one roof.

Other facilities are at convenient locations around Main Post. They include a shoe repair shop, 24-hour shoppette, radio and television servicing, equipment rental shop, laundry and dry-cleaning shop, washer/dryer rental shop, and the world's largest free-standing Burger King.

There is also a vehicle repair garage, auto parts store, car rental service, car wash and four gas stations.

The Northwest Area Exchange provides merchandise and services at a reasonable cost. Facilities are available to all active duty soldiers, retirees, their family members and reservists. Food facilities are available to everyone, military or civilian. Hours of operation are Monday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Commissary

The Fort Lewis Commissary opened in November 1986, and is a modern, state-of-the-art store. In addition to the large grocery, meat and produce departments, it features a bakery, deli, fresh fish area and plant section.

Over 3,000 customers shop at the 40,000-square-foot store each day. Its annual sales of nearly $63 million consistently place it in the top five of all Defense Commissary Agency stores worldwide. Because its nearly 14,000 products are sold at cost plus a 5 percent surcharge, the commissary patrons regularly save more than 25 percent on their grocery bills. This makes the commissary one of the most valuable benefits.

The commissary, located between Pendleton and Nevada Avenues, is open seven days a week to all soldiers, eligible Reserve Component soldiers, retirees and their families.

The store opens daily at 9 a.m. Closing times are Sunday at 6 p.m.; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m.; and Saturday at 6 p.m.

Thrift Shop

The Thrift Shop is a non-profit organization serving the military community by providing authorized active and retired military personnel and their families a means for consignment sales of used personal and household property for sale to members of the military community and the general public. Resulting profits are disbursed to post charities, post activities of a community or military nature and military service-related welfare and charity organizations that benefit the Fort Lewis retired, active duty service personnel and their families.

Located in Bldg. 5170 Utah Avenue (964-5401), the Thrift Shop accepts clothing, furniture, household items, books, toys and other items for sale on consignment or as donations. All items must be clean and in good working order.

The shop is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and the first Saturday of each month from 10 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Consignments are taken from 9:00 a.m. to noon Tuesday through Thursday and from noon to 12:30 p.m. for those in uniform.

Volunteers provide the backbone of the work force. If you are interested in volunteering, call the consignments supervisor at 964-5401. For up to date information on current policies see our web site at www.ns4sb.com/flwts.

Banking Services

Banking services are available at the Fort Lewis Branch of the Armed Forces Bank. Walk-in hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays. A drive-through window behind the bank is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Monday through Friday. Phone 1-888-920-2265.

The Fort Lewis Community Federal Credit Union, across the street from the Armed Forces Bank, is open from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. weekdays. There is also another facility located to your immediate right as you enter the Madigan Gate that operates from 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Membership is open to soldiers and Fort Lewis employees upon purchase of shares and payment of a membership fee. For more information call 964-3113.

Legal Services

The Staff Judge Advocate is located in Bldg. 2027, on the corner of Liggett Avenue and North 8th Street and provides a full range of legal services.

The Legal Assistance Office provides confidential legal services to soldiers, retirees and their family members. Legal assistance attorneys provide advice on divorce, separation, child support, child custody, wills, powers of attorney, landlord-tenant issues, debt collection, military administrative matters such as OER/NCOER appeals, reports of survey, bars to reenlistment and other personal legal matters. Powers of attorney and notary services are available Monday through Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Thursday 12:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. and Friday 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on a walk-in basis. All services are done on a first come first serve space available basis. All other services are provided on a walk-in basis Monday through Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is also a same-day Will clinic every Thursday afternoon with sign in starting at 12:30 p.m. Services are available twice a month for retirees on certain Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. For further information call 966-7526.

Fort Lewis

The Claims Office is open for customer service Monday through Wednesday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Thursday, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Claims Office handles tort claims, Article 139 claims, personal property claims and various other types of claims. Anyone who has damaged or missing items from a government contracted move must turn in a completed DD Form 1840/1840R, Notice of Loss or Damage, to the Claims Office within 70 days of delivery. Failure to notify the Claims Office within 70 days of delivery may reduce the claim by the amount the office could have recovered from the carrier, sometimes costing the claimant the entire amount claimed. Don't delay with your DD Form 1840/1840R. For more information or assistance, call 967-0704.

Services

The Trial Defense Service (TDS), third floor, provides counseling and services to active-duty soldiers pending non-judicial punishment, administrative separation and courts-martial. Hours of operation are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The emergency on-call TDS duty officer is available 24 hours a day. Article 15 and administrative separation counseling is done on an appointment basis only. Appointments can be made by calling 967-0707. Suspects are seen on a walk-in basis.

The Fort Lewis branch of the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington, or Magistrate's Court, is on the second floor, Room 222, Bldg. 2027. The office adjudicates both military and civilian on-post traffic offenses and all on-post non-felony criminal cases involving non-military persons. All court hearings are held in U.S. District Court, downtown Tacoma. For information, call 967-0711.

Post Newspaper

The Northwest Guardian carries news about units, soldiers, family members, civilian employees and features of interest. Among the helpful sections are announcements, schedules, club news and community activity notes. The editorial office is located in Bldg. 2025, phone 967-0173.

To get free ads listing personal property for sale, run in the Northwest Guardian, bring the submission form to the Public Affairs Office or marked distribution boxes at one of the following locations: Mini-Mall; PX; Commissary; Thrift Shop; North Fort Mini-Mall; Officers' Club or American Lake Club by noon Monday for publication that Friday. Soldiers, retirees, Fort Lewis employees and their family members may submit free ads.

Post Office

The Fort Lewis branch of the Tacoma Post Office provides convenient postal service. Located in Bldg. 5173, it is open weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Boxes are available for rent. Phone (253) 471-6133.

The closest off-post post office is in DuPont, located just off I-5, between Main Post and North Fort. Hours are 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Lobby is open 24 hours per day. Phone 964-8333, for more information.

Employment

The more than 5,000 Fort Lewis civilian employees provide valuable support in many occupations, from physicians to heavy mobile equipment mechanics. Civilian employees are able to use a variety of services at Fort Lewis such as the golf course, libraries, gyms, swimming pools, equipment rental, and recreation centers. Civilian employment does not authorize use of the PX or commissary, however.

Most civil service employees at Fort Lewis work for I Corps and Fort Lewis or Madigan Army Medical Center (MAMC) and are hired through the Fort Lewis Civilian Personnel Advisory Center (CPAC). The CPAC also hires Non-Appropriated Fund (NAF) civilians, predominantly to provide Morale, Welfare and Recreation service to soldiers, their families and other members of the military community. The Civilian Personnel Advisory Center is located in Building 2015, on the corner of Pendleton and 4th Street. The Job Information Center (Room 107 in CPAC) provides information regarding civil service jobs. It is open Monday and Tuesday from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. and Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. The NAF Branch (Room 133) is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to provide assistance with employment information for jobs not paid from funds appropriated by Congress. You may contact the office at 966-3471. In addition, a 24-hour job information line for civil service jobs is available by calling 967-5377.

The MAMC Job Information Center is available for information on medical and non-medical job opportunities at the hospital. The JIC is located at MAMC, Human Resources Branch (Ground Floor) and can be contacted at (253) 968-2867. Information specific to nursing openings can be obtained at (253) 968-2859.

Employment information, to include job announcements for hard-to-fill positions and how to submit resumes for recurring jobs, is available at the CPAC web site: <http://www.lewis.army.mil/cpo> or at the web site for the West

Region Civilian Operations Center:
<http://www.wcpoc.army.mil>.

Employment opportunities also exist with the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES). The AAFES personnel office is located in Building 9503 at the Logistics Center. The phone number is 964-2522.

Army Career and Alumni Program

The Army Career and Alumni Program (ACAP) provides comprehensive transition assistance planning and essential job search skill training to separating and retiring active duty military, Department of the Army civilians and their adult family members. Eligibility for ACAP services begins 1 year prior to separation or transition leave for normal voluntary and involuntary separations. Individuals preparing for retirement are encouraged to begin 2 years prior to retirement or beginning transition leave. Public Law also guarantees transition services for up to 90 days after completing active duty. Spouses of registered ACAP clients are eligible for services and are strongly encouraged to participate in ACAP activities along with their transitioning sponsor.

Individuals begin the transition process by identifying their individual transition needs as a part of a pre-separation counseling session, where they complete the mandatory pre-separation counseling checklist, DD Form 2648. The ACAP Center conducts pre-separation counseling daily and coordinates attendance at the multi-day Job Search Skill and Veteran's Benefit Workshop, which provides essential job search skills training.

Call 967-3258 for information on scheduling ACAP transition services.

ACAP, through its combination of Federal, state and contracted services, offers an extensive package of resources for transitioners. ACAP is not a job placement service, but provides extensive job-search skills training, individual counseling, local employment fairs, one-stop job hunting assistance and access to DOD transition services such as Public and Communities Services Registry (PACS), and the Transition Bulletin Board (TBB). ACAP also offers its own internet based job search program, located on the ACAP World Wide Web page. (www.acap.army.mil)

Education Services Office

Army Continuing Education Services (ACES) enriches the quality of life in the military community by making programs and services available to soldiers, family members, veterans and civilians. ACES offer many different education programs.

David L. Stone Education Center, located in Bldg. 6242, Colorado Ave., is engineered to accommodate state-of-the-art instructional technology. It includes 32 classrooms, a science lab, a 175-seat auditorium, computer classrooms, computer lab, bookstore, espresso coffee shop and a college mall for post-secondary institutions. Currently there are six schools providing classes at the Stone Education Center. This center is the "Education Center of the Future", ready to meet the needs of soldiers now and into the future.

Education Advising is an integral part of an individual's educational endeavors. Professional advisors provide a full range of adult and continuing education advising. Advisors can assist in individual program design, career clarification/development and all other programs and services. Advising is available on a walk-in basis. Education is the key to success and confidence.

Basic Skills Education Program (BSEP) offers individualized instruction in reading, math and language skills. Enrollment is on a daily walk-in basis and is provided at no cost to soldiers.

High School Completion Program allows students to earn credits toward a high school diploma or prepare for the General Education Development (GED) examination.

Testing Service is available on a fee-paid basis to family members, including CLEP, DANTES Subject Standardization Tests and various interest inventories. Most tests are available at no cost to soldiers. Additional information on other tests can be obtained from the ACES education advisors.

The Technical Academic Resource Center (TARC) is a high-tech computer center located at the David L. Stone Education Center. Its purpose is to provide a study area where family members, veterans, civilians, college students, soldiers and others in the community can use computers to improve education skills or complete work related projects. The TARC serves more than 70,000 customers annually and offers a variety of computer courses to meet the needs of the Fort Lewis community. Networked on a Windows-NT server, the TARC currently has 70 Pentium computers loaded with Microsoft applications, printers and a scanner. Staff is available during the hours of operation to provide assistance.

The TARC also includes three computer classrooms used for computer training, where colleges teach computer academic courses. Units can arrange for classes on Windows and other Microsoft Office Pro applications for a small fee. The TARC offers free workshops each month, which are open to family members, retirees and Fort Lewis civilian personnel. The workshops are introductory in nature and topics include: Windows, PowerPoint, Intro to Computers, the Internet and E-mail. For more information, call 967-2178.

The TARC is open Monday through Thursday 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., Friday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Leader Development Center, Bldg. 3201, Programs

Basic Skills Education Program (BSEP) offers individualized instruction in reading, math and language skills. Enrollment is on a daily walk-in basis and is provided at no cost to soldiers.

Test of Adult Basic Education (TABE) is used primarily for placement in the BSEP program and is also required for some service schools.

High School Completion Program allows soldiers to earn credits toward a high school diploma or prepare for the General Education Development (GED) examination.

Professional Development Education Program (PDEP) provides professional workshops and courses to assist NCOs in developing skills required as trainers, supervisors, managers and administrators.

Army Learning Centers (ALCs) contain video and military publications. Professionally trained ALC staff assists soldiers in MOS study selection and enrollment in military correspondence courses. Facilities are available for small group/squad study. Three ALCs are available at Fort Lewis to include: Leader Development Center, Stryker Learning Center, and North Fort Lewis Learning Center.

For more information, call the David L. Stone Education Center at 967-7174 or for ACES advisors call 967-7295. Hours are Monday through Friday 7:30 a.m. through 5:00 p.m.

Local Schools

The Department of the Army requires all soldiers with school age children to notify their children's school upon reassignment instructions. Parents are encouraged when moving to maintain copies of their students records, transcripts, immunization records, IEP evaluations, any special educational needs documentation, GPA interpretations with course descriptions, birth certificates and synopsis's of assessment reports. This information will ensure a smooth move to the new school.

Most Fort Lewis students are served by the Clover Park School District, North Thurston School District and Bethel School District. Private and parochial schools are also available in nearby communities. Five elementary schools are on post and Tillicum Elementary School (off post) serves MAMC and part of Fort Lewis. Children must have reached their fifth birthday by August 31 to enter kindergarten and must be six years old by August 31 to enter first grade.

Senior high and middle school students living on post attend school

Child and Youth Services

Child and Youth Services is a comprehensive system that coordinates and provides services for children and youth on the installation. The CYS system has been awarded Department of Defense Certification, with commendation; The System of Excellence Award and Accreditation through National Association for the Education of Young Children and National School Age Care Alliance. There are four branches within CYS; Child Development Services, School Age Services, Youth Services and Supplemental Programs and Services. A CYS information center is located in Building 2166, on the corner of 12th Street and Liggett Avenue. Contact 967-2494 for more information.

Child Development Services provides child care services for children birth through 12 years old. CDS activities are geared to enrich and school readiness; programs which will help your child develop socially, emotionally, mentally and physically. In order to meet parental preference and children's needs, child care is provided in both home based and center based settings.

Family Child Care is a cost effective child care delivery system which also offers specialized child care service (extended hours care, long-term care, care for children with special needs and care for parents working shifts.) Additionally, the FCC delivery system provides employment opportunities for many Army spouses. The FCC system provides care in certified government quarters that are inspected closely for compliance with fire, safety, health and program quality standards. Child Development Centers are state-of-the-art, accredited facilities, which are the prototype for similar Army construction projects. Full day care and special needs programs for children between the ages of 6 weeks to school age are provided at Madigan Development Center. Full day care, hourly care and part day preschool are provided at Clarkmoor Child Development Center.

School Age Services is an accredited child care delivery system that offers before and after school programs, full-day programs during school vacations and school closures, and summer camp for children in kindergarten through 5th grade. Activities are organized within four service areas: arts; recreation and leisure; life skills; citizenship and leadership; sports; fitness and health and mentoring, intervention and education. Children have the opportunity to join 4-H Clubs and boys and Girls Club of America. Special interest areas feature computers, game room, library, cooking club, arts and craft, science, music and drama. The Beachwood School Age Center summer programs include fishing, swimming, boating, bowling, nature walks, biking, sports and reading clubs. A strong liaison exists between the elementary schools and the SAS program through the Character Counts initiative and homework centers.

Youth Services provides Boys and Girls Club of America opportunities for middle school and teenage youth; league sports programs and sports clinics for children and youth and instructional classes. The North Fort Youth Center offers leisure and recreational activities for middle school and teenage youth. Keystone Club, Torch Club, Power Hour, Work Force Preparation and Swoosh Club are just a few of the Boys and Girls Club programs designed to teach citizenship, values, leadership, and homework tutoring. Additionally, excellent scholarship opportunities are obtainable for graduating high school youth. The Red Cross Babysitting certification course is offered for youth

Services

13 years and older. The YS Sports Center provides a wide range of sports and fitness programs to include baseball, track and field, soccer, basketball, and cheerleading. Open basketball courts, weight training equipment and cardio development equipment are available for teens. Appropriate training and supervision during use of the equipment is available. Instructional classes in karate, ballet, and gymnastics are offered through out the week. Contact 967-4441 for additional information. The Washington State Special Olympics are held annually at Fort Lewis. Contact 967-5924 for additional information.

Supplemental programs and services provide a centrally located registration service for all children and youth enrolled in the CYS programs. Information about all CYS delivery services may be obtained by calling 967-2494. To ensure safety of your children, families using any of the

Fort Lewis

CYS systems must be registered. To register children, birth through school age, parents must provide immunization records, birth certificate, names and phone numbers of three emergency contact adults, and pertinent information regarding the child. Middle school and teen registration must include parent permission for teens to be transported in a government vehicle for field trips or youth shuttles as well as pertinent family information and emergency contacts. Children and youth enrolled in sports programs must provide a current sports physical and emergency contact phone numbers. The Special Needs Resource Team is available to assist the parent of a child with special needs and locate the least restrictive environment for their child. Short Term Child Care in Unit Settings is a child care service that will provide care for children of parents attending meetings or unit functions. The child care service will be provided in the same building where the parents are meeting. Contact 966-5991 or 2494 to arrange for STACC service.

Chapels

Several post chapels offer weekly and, in some cases, daily religious activities. Religious education is provided for all ages.

Several chapels offer Protestant Sunday School. Call 967-4849 for information.

Catholic Continuing Christian Development (CCD) instruction is taught at the Main Post Chapel. Jewish services, education and social programs are held in Chapel No. 5.

Opportunities for participation are offered through choirs and other activities. Several Protestant, Catholic and Jewish groups, including Protestant Women of the Chapel and the Catholic Ladies' Guild, meet weekly. Free child care is provided during most services and activities at the Post Chapel and several unit chapels. To volunteer for chapel activities, call the Main Post Chapel at 967-4849.

Fort Lewis chaplains operate two special programs: the Family Life Center and an ongoing crisis intervention ministry.

A marriage preparation course is every month from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Family Life Center, located at the Four Chaplains Memorial Chapel. Call 967-1723 for more information. A certificate of completion from the course is usually required for marriage by a military chaplain.

If you do not have a unit chaplain, call 967-3126 or 3127.

For emergency assistance or counseling after duty hours call the on-call duty chaplain at 967-0015.

American Red Cross provides a number of services to soldiers and their immediate family members. These services include emergency communication; verification of emergency leave and access to financial assistance. For active duty military, the Red Cross is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling 1-877-

272-7337. In the event of an emergency, illness, critical accident, death, birth of a new child in a service members family, or the family's request for the service members presence, your Red Cross should be notified immediately. Through our advanced Armed Forces Emergency Services Center, the service member can be reached and given this information anywhere in the world. Once the service member is notified, it is then up to military authorities to decide whether or not to grant leave. American Red Cross works with other organizations here on Fort Lewis such as Army Emergency Relief in providing emergency funding for service members and their families; Family Resource Center; newcomer and unit deployment briefings. The Red Cross is located in Waller Hall. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The phone number is (253) 967-4288.

Command Army Substance Abuse Program

I Corps and Fort Lewis command has an effective Army Substance Abuse Program.

Fort Lewis

Services

This program provides assistance to individuals with alcohol and other drug-related problems.

Services are available to active duty and reserve soldiers, retirees, and family members (18 years old and above) of these individuals. Additionally, Fort Lewis employees are afforded services through the command ASAP Employee Assistance Program for alcohol and drug-related problems as well as work-related stress.

All ASAP elements are located in Bldg. 2006A on Liggett Ave. between 2nd and 3rd Street. The program is staffed by professionals, education and prevention specialists, rehabilitation counselors and staff advisors. The ASAP phone is 967-2202.

The ASAP education/prevention staff provides a variety of services including a Resource Library of prevention materials and lesson plans on various topics related to alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. Resource Library materials are available to all valid ID cardholders. A 12-hour Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Training (ADAPT) remedial education course is provided for personnel referred to it by their commanders or by the courts.

Biochemical testing to detect alcohol and various other drugs is used as a means of early identification of abusers and as a deterrent to casual and experimental use of drugs. The coordinator for this office is at 967-4351.

Outpatient rehabilitation counseling, clinical assessments, referral and liaison services, and intensive outpatient treatment programs are available through the ASAP clinical component of the command ASAP. Appointments can be made by calling 967-2202.

Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and its counterparts, AL-ANON (for spouses) and ALA-TEEN (for children of alcoholics) are independent of the ASAP, but are available on post and in the surrounding area.

Services

Fort Lewis

Narcotics Anonymous (NA) groups are also available.

For additional information about AA, AL-ANON and ALA-TEEN, call 474-8897 or 847-9951. NA can be reached at 531-8792.

Army Community Service

Army Community Service is an Army-wide program designed specifically to assist soldiers, retirees and their families in coping with a broad spectrum of problems. Some ACS services are available to civilian employees and their family members. ACS provides information, assistance and guidance to members of the Army community in coping with personal and family problems beyond the scope of their own resources. In addition, ACS offers a single, easily accessible office for those who need help or wish to discuss their problems confidentially. A follow-up visit is scheduled to ensure appropriate services were provided and the problem successfully resolved. The Fort Lewis ACS is located in Waller Hall Welcome Center, Bldg. 2140. The office is open 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday and Wednesday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Assistance Emergency Travel begins at 7:00 a.m. For updated information regarding ACS programs, access the ACS web page at www.lewis.army.mil/community/dpca/fsd/acs. ACS services include the following:

Information and referral services in ACS provide needed referrals to other military and civilian agencies.

ACS Financial Readiness Program assistance is available on a first-come, first-served basis. Skilled counselors will help establish a budget, or help those with severe indebtedness to enroll in local debt reduction programs. They also provide investment, tax and consumer information and help with consumer complaints. A counselor from Consumer Credit Counseling Service can advise and assist soldiers in restructuring debt payments.

The Relocation Readiness Program office welcomes newly assigned soldiers and family members to Fort Lewis and assists with all aspects of relocating to the new duty assignment. Individual relocation counseling is available for both in and out-bound personnel. Stop by ACS or call 967-3607 for the Fort Lewis Welcome Packet or a SITES printout.

Fort Lewis

The center also provides assistance to foreign-born spouses by offering information on English as Second Language classes. Limited immigration and naturalization services are also available. Stop by ACS to obtain a copy of the SITES booklet for your next duty assignment.

You can also obtain a 30-day loan of household items from our Loan Closet. You will need a copy of your orders and, if you are unable to come to the Loan Closet, your spouse can pick up the household items with a copy of your orders.

The RRP provides assistance to military personnel and family members who will be moving to the Fort Lewis/Tacoma communities and those relocating to other military installations. Computerized information (SITES) from all active military installations, a worldwide resource library, PCS videotapes of various overseas installations and trip mapping services (automap) within CONUS are provided upon request.

During inprocessing at the 525th Replacement Company, you will be required to attend the Newcomer's Orientation. You will receive a briefing on all the services available at Fort Lewis. Spouses are highly encouraged to attend and most welcome. Free child care on site is provided and attendees are provided a free lunch. The orientation is followed by a guided bus tour of the installation.

Family Services has professional counselors to assist with emergency situations, help resolve personal issues and to make community referrals. Other services include short-term counseling, emergency food locker assistance, waiting family support group, assistance to exceptional family members, information on foster care and/or adoption and public assistance.

Army Emergency Relief provides emergency financial assistance in the form of interest-free loans and grants to soldiers, retirees and their families. Active duty soldiers must apply for help on DA Form 1103 through their unit commander.

AER also provides educational assistance for family members of active duty, retired or deceased soldiers. Loans and scholarships are available.

A Waiting Families Support Group assists families whose sponsors are on extended TDY or unaccompanied tours overseas. The primary function is to help families find solutions to their problems. The WFSG also provides them an opportunity to meet others in similar circumstances and provide support for the unique problems involved in this type of military tour.

Installation Volunteer Coordinator. There are many opportunities to volunteer and share your talents. Contact the IVCs office for assistance. The IVC office keeps a listing of all opportunities on post. The office tracks volunteers, monthly hours and conducts annual post wide recognition. For more information call the IVC at 967-2324.

The Soldier and Family Readiness Program, formerly known as Family Advocacy, is concerned primarily with prevention and reduction of spouse and child abuse. The program has two major components. The SFRP Manager is responsible for the prevention program, which includes education classes and community awareness programs. Social Work Service provides treatment services at Madigan Army Medical Center. The overall program ensures coordination between ACS, SWS and many other components in the community. The program monitors the prevention, identification, reporting, investigation and treatment of spouse and child abuse.

The ACS SFRP classes focus on healthy families and programs that help parents develop positive parenting skills. The classes provide various aspects of ages and stages in child growth and development and skills that prevent child abuse.

Supplementary classes focus on healthy relationships for soldiers and their spouses that develop coping skills to prevent spouse abuse. They include classes on anger management and stress management. These classes are open to all eligible personnel. SFRP provides required annual prevention training to all units and soldiers at Fort Lewis. The program has launched a joint effort between the hospital and the installation. The program, Preventive Intervention Program (PIP) works with individuals and couples to prevent abuse before it becomes an incident. PIP is a model program for the Army.

The New Parent Support Program is a professional team of social workers and registered nurses who provide in-home parenting support and education services to Fort Lewis families with children ages six years and under free of charge.

The New Parent Support Program helps parents learn to cope with stress, isolation, post-deployment reunions and everyday demands of parenthood.

Home visiting services offer parents the opportunity to improve their skills as parents and to learn some new skills that might work even better. There are often many questions about children's needs and what to do. The New Parent Support Program is a reliable source for answers to parent's questions.

For more information about the program, call 967-7409 or visit Bldg. 5218.

The Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) provides referral services for educational, housing, community and military services for families with special needs. Early enrollment in the EFMP is the soldier's guarantee that the Army military personnel will do its best to match the soldier's grade and specialty with a location where the exceptional family member's needs can be met. Information about EFMP enrollment is not given to selection boards. EFMP enrollment does not adversely affect a soldier's selection for promotion, schools or assignment.

Fort Lewis has supported Special Olympics for over 26 years. More than 2,000 athletes participate in Washington Special Olympics (WSO) annually. WSO continues to be a success due to over 1,000 participating volunteers every year.

Employment Readiness Program helps adult family members prepare resumes, locate local jobs and enter the job market. Services are available to all eligible personnel except active duty soldiers. Active duty soldiers are required to utilize the Army Career and Alumni Program transition services located in Bldg. 5210. Services are also available to family members of DOD civilians on a space-available basis.

The ERP maintains listings of local job openings. These lists include federal, state, county, and local job vacancies. Employment opportunities range from temporary part-time to permanent full-time positions. Job announcements are updated daily. Assistance is provided to those who want to volunteer their services in order to gain additional work experience.

Computers are available for family members registered with the ERP. The program has a full-time coordinator available to provide advice and assistance on preparation of applications, resumes and cover letters. Appointments can be made by calling 967-3538 to prepare their resume.

Family Resource Center

The Family Resource Center opened in Bldg. 4274 on April 11, 1996 to serve as the operations/synchronization center that ties Family Readiness Group (FRG) requirements to garrison support functions. The FRC provides commanders, FRG leaders and members education /training, assistance, support and resources. The facility has meeting spaces for FRG meetings, projects and briefings. There is a self-help automated production center with staff technical assistance for development of FRG unit newsletters.

The Family Resource Center is located on the corner of 9th Division and Idaho Street and can be reached at 967-9496.

Fort Lewis

Madigan Army Medical Center

Madigan Army Medical Center (MAMC), located just a few minutes north of the Main Post, gives priority medical care to the nearly 23,000 soldiers on Fort Lewis and 6,000 active-duty members on McChord Air Force Base. MAMC also provides care to 65,000 retirees and their family members. The medical center, staffed by over 3,000 medical, dental, nursing and administrative personnel, examines and treats nearly 800,000 outpatients each year.

The 120-acre site is the largest military hospital on the West Coast. Madigan has an average daily inpatient census of about 125. The medical center has 172 beds for inpatient use, and can expand to accommodate 318 patients during medical emergencies.

Outpatients are seen in the hospital's medical mall complex. Madigan's ambulatory patient-care service is one of the busiest in the country. Each day, some 30 surgeries are performed, 5,600 laboratory procedures are completed, 3,700 prescriptions are filled, 440 X-rays are made and six babies are delivered.

Madigan also oversees the operation of troop medical clinics and battalion aid stations on Fort Lewis. Madigan carries regional responsibility for the Medical Activity at Fort Wainwright, Alaska, Fort Irwin, California, and health clinics at Umatilla Army Depot in Oregon, and Camp Parks in California.

In 1995, Madigan began operating under the new Department of Defense's health care program called TRICARE. TRICARE is designed to improve access to care for the more than 400,000 military beneficiaries in Madigan's region (Washington and Oregon and several zip codes in Idaho). Madigan was the first DOD medical facility to contract with a civilian health care organization. As part of the TRICARE Northwest region, Madigan was among the first DOD medical facilities to implement TRICARE Prime. Currently, all military treatment facilities worldwide are operating under the TRICARE program.

Madigan Army Medical Center

Fort Lewis

Under the TRICARE program, active-duty soldiers will continue to receive their care as they have in the past. However, family members of active-duty soldiers as well as retirees and their eligible family members are now given the opportunity to select one of three options in obtaining their health care.

TRICARE Prime is the managed care option and is the only option that requires enrollment. Family members who choose to enroll in TRICARE Prime will be assigned to a primary care manager at Madigan or at a civilian contractor, depending on the family's needs and/or program requirements.

Active duty family members who enroll in TRICARE Prime, no longer have out of pocket costs for civilian healthcare, except for co-pays for retail pharmacy service. Retirees and their eligible family members have no out of pocket costs when they receive care in the military treatment facility. There is a small co-payment for care in the civilian community.

In 1996, the Department of Defense began a TRICARE demonstration program, TRICARE Remote Prime, which is now a permanent health care program, intended to make accessing health care easier for service members who live and work away from military hospitals and clinics. This program is for active duty service members and their family members who reside with them. To be eligible for the program, service members and their family members must reside 50 miles from a military treatment facility and work 50 miles from a MTF. Under this program, active duty service members must enroll in TRICARE Prime Remote and choose a Primary Care Manager.

The program reduces the member's reliance on faraway military facilities, by allowing them to obtain care closer to home and/or work. If a service member requires a Fitness for Duty determination, or a medical board, the active duty member will be referred to the closest MTF with the ability to provide the care and make a duty determination. Active duty service members who need additional information on TRICARE Prime Remote, may log on to the web at <http://www.tricare.osd.mil/remote/> or call a TRICARE Northwest Benefit services Representative at their nearest TRICARE Service Center, at 1-800-404-2042.

TRICARE Standard is essentially the old Standard CHAMPUS program; the only difference is that the name has changed. Families choosing to use TRICARE Standard are subject to the same deductibles and cost shares as they did under the old CHAMPUS program.

The final option is called TRICARE Extra. This option is similar to TRICARE Standard, but with a 5 percent discount. When beneficiaries choose a physician from a list of civilian preferred providers, (network providers), they will receive a 5 percent discount. In 2001 new benefits went into effect for retirees and their eligible family members, aged 65 and older, under the TRICARE Senior Pharmacy and TRICARE for Life Programs. The TRICARE Senior Pharmacy Program affords the over-65 military beneficiaries with the same pharmacy options and co-pays as their under-65 counterparts. Military beneficiaries who turned age 65 after April 1, 2001 must enroll in Medicare Part B in order to use TRICARE Senior Pharmacy and be eligible for the TRICARE for Life program.

TRICARE for Life began on October 1, 2001 for over-65 Medicare-eligible military retirees and their eligible family members who are enrolled in Medicare Part B. Under TRICARE for Life, eligible beneficiaries simply obtain their care through providers who accept Medicare assignment and Medicare forwards the bills to TRICARE for Life, which acts as a second payer. TRICARE will be a third payer if the beneficiary has a Medicare supplemental policy or comprehensive health insurance. Beneficiaries who are enrolled in a Medicare Plus Choice HMO must follow the rules of the HMO in order to have medical claims paid properly under TRICARE for Life. To facilitate the claims process, senior beneficiaries are urged to update their DEERS information by calling DEERS at 1-800-538-9552 or contacting DEERS on the web at addrinfo@osd.pentagon.mil. For further information on the TRICARE for Life program, contact the TRICARE Information Center at 1-888-DoD-Life (1-888-363-5433).

TRICARE Plus is a Military Treatment Facility Primary Care enrollment program. It offers primary care enrollment in the MTF to those beneficiaries with a proven long-standing relationship with the

MTF. Beneficiaries in this program cannot be enrolled in TRICARE Prime. TRICARE Plus is available only at locations where there is MTF primary care capacity. When accepted into the program, enrollees are assigned a primary care provider at the MTF as their principal source of health care. Providers can refer beneficiaries to specialty care within the MTF, when available, or to civilian providers. When referral to the civilian community occurs, most services are paid for by Medicare as first payer, with TRICARE for Life as a supplement.

Newly assigned soldiers should turn in their health records and their family member's medical records to the Welcome Center at Waller Hall during initial in-processing to Fort Lewis. Family members, without medical records, can have them established at Madigan Army Medical Center, Main Outpatient Records, located on the 1st floor, Medical Mall, next to the Pharmacy. Medical records are turned into the MAMC system for filing on Monday through Friday. Medical records are filed according to the sponsor's social security number. A medical recording card is made for the medical record for use by the clinics once the patient is enrolled. The TRICARE Service Center is located on the 2nd floor of the Medical Mall.

Family members records rooms: Main OPR, APCC, DFP, PEDS. Hours of operation: 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday, closed weekends and holidays. Army Regulation 40-400 requires the presentation of a valid Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card each time medical attention is sought at a military facility. Family members over the age of 10 must have an ID card. All family members must be enrolled in the Defense Eligibility Enrollment Reporting System.

The Family Practice Clinic serves TRICARE Prime enrolled beneficiaries and is located in the Madigan Medical Mall, ground floor. The Family Practice Clinic goal is comprehensive, customer friendly and quality health care with easy access to services. Services offered include: preventive health services, counseling, pre- and post-natal obstetrical care, well-person check-ups, outpatient surgical and other procedures, and many other services designed to deliver health care to the entire family.

Applicants may visit the servicing TRICARE Service Center and fill out an application: this is essential for enrollment in TRICARE PRIME. Beneficiaries assigned enrollment at the Family Practice Clinic by TRICARE are encouraged to attend a walk-in Family Practice Orientation held on Tuesday and Thursday from 2:00 to 2:30 p.m. in the Family Practice Administrative area (across from the clinic). A primary care manager/provider (PCM) is assigned to each TRICARE PRIME-enrolled beneficiary, with the same PCM assigned to family members of a given sponsor.

Family Practice Clinic is organized by "Teams." PCMs and supporting personnel assigned to the teams are each capable of providing exceptional health care. Family Practice Clinic also offers evening clinics from Monday-Thursday, 4:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. as well as inpatient services to Family Practice TRICARE PRIME enrollees. Appointments are made through the TRICARE Regional Appointment Center at 1-800-404-4506 from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday-Friday. Daily clinic operations are Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Acute care hours are Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. through 3 p.m.

The FPC includes Aviation Medicine, along with limited Physical and Occupational Therapy support. Flight physical examinations can be Emergencies and urgent problems are seen in the Emergency Department/Acute Minor Illness Clinic. It is the busiest emergency department in the state and treats 200-250 patients per day. Triage personnel interview each patient to identify those who require most urgent attention. These are seen in the Emergency Department. Patients with less serious problems are seen in the Acute Minor Illness Clinic. Waiting time ranges from 30 minutes to two hours. Evaluation then takes 15 to 30 minutes, longer if laboratory tests or X-rays are required.

In general, the longest waiting times in the ED are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. Weekends and holidays are particularly busy because most other hospital clinics in the area are closed. To remain ready for critically ill and injured patients, the ED is always staffed by four or more doctors. The Acute Minor Illness Clinic is manned by two physician assistants.

MAMC outpatients have several pharmacies available. The Main Outpatient Pharmacy, located in the Madigan Medical Mall, is open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday, and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; closed on Saturday and holidays. Phone: (253) 968-1963, or 1964. Active-duty service members in uniform have priority for picking up prescriptions for themselves (only). This section only processes new prescriptions generated by MAMC providers.

To obtain a refill you must use the automated Call-In Refill system; for best service call, (253) 968-2999 two days in advance.

The Drive-Through Pharmacy, located on the hospital's northwest corner, is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The inside Refill Pickup Window, located in the hospital across from the Orthopedic Clinic, is an alternate refill pick up point for called in refill requests. The hours of operation are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. These sites only dispense refills, which have been previously requested either through the call in service or Madigan's refill web page at <http://www.mamc.amedd.army.mil/refill.htm>. The web page refill request must be picked up at the Drive thru window.

The Mini-Mall Satellite Pharmacy, is located at the main post PX Mini-Mall complex, and stays open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays. Phone (253) 967-5350 or (253) 966-1106. This pharmacy fills civilian prescriptions. Active-duty service members in uniform have priority when picking up their own prescriptions.

The Mini-Mall, AMIC and Drive-Through Pharmacy sites are closed Saturdays, Sundays and federal holidays. At all locations, when picking up prescriptions you must have a military I.D. card for all patients age 10 years and older.

No appointment is necessary for the Immunization Clinic. Hours of operation are Monday through Thursday, 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m., Fridays, 8 to 11:30 a.m. All patients must bring their medical records to the clinic to get immunizations. Questions about immunizations for travel should be referred to the Travel Clinic at 968-4499. All 1st and 3rd Brigade soldiers and family practice patients should obtain their immunizations through the Family Practice Clinic. Patients aged 17 and under must have a parent with them to get immunized. Children under 2 years of age will be seen at the Well Child Clinic.

A consult or referral from a doctor is necessary to obtain an appointment in the Allergy Clinic. Consults should be sent electronically to the healthcare finder or healthcare provider. One working day after the consult is submitted the patient should call TRAC to schedule their appointment.

Appointments to the Obstetrics/Gynecology Clinic may be made by calling the TRICARE Appointment Center at 1-800-404-4506. Active-duty sick call is from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday. Only emergency OB patients will be seen on Wednesday between 7:30 and 10:30 a.m. Soldiers are required to report to their assigned medical treatment facility where they will be screened and, if necessary, referred to the OB/GYN department. Referred soldiers must bring their medical records, screening sheet and Sick Call Slip when reporting to the OB/BYN Clinic.

Soldiers will be seen on a priority first-serve basis.

Obstetrics patients are identified as soon as pregnancy is confirmed from any medical facility. These patients should call the TRICARE appointment center to make their appointments for OB registration and a "new OB" physical.

Routine GYN, OB, and INFERT appointments may be made by calling TRICARE. Patients needing a "Specialty GYN" appointment, may call the TRICARE Appointment number 48 hours after their primary care provider has submitted the request through the Appointment Order Process.

All patients must be registered in the DEERS system to be seen in any Pediatric Department clinic. Patients 10 years of age or older are required to have a valid ID card. Patients less than 10 years of age must be accompanied by an eligible parent, or if they have their own ID card and accompanying adult is not a parent, a current Medical Power of Attorney is required.

Appointments for all Pediatric clinics may be made by calling the TRICARE Regional Appointment Center Appointment line at 1-800-404-4506, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday. After hours and weekends, call (253) 968-3066 for an appointment. All injuries less than 72 hours old should be seen initially in the Emergency Room.

If you need medical advice an Advice Nurse may be contacted 24-hours a day, seven days a week, by calling 1-800-750-6946. The advice nurse cannot book appointments.

The General Pediatric Outpatient Clinic provides care for children birth to 12 years on an appointment basis from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Friday. These hours include the evening clinic from 5 to 8 p.m. There is also a weekend clinic on Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Sundays, 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Evening and weekend clinics are staffed by Spectrum Healthcare Resources (civilian) providers. For additional information or to confirm clinic hours, a receptionist may be reached during the above hours at (253) 968-3066.

Adolescent Clinic provides comprehensive primary care and Adolescent Medicine for patients 13 through 23 years (if still in dependent child status and enrolled full time in school). When appointments are not available in this clinic for the evaluation of acute onset of illness patients may be able to be seen as a walk-in in the Adolescent Clinic with physician approval. Appointments are also available for adolescents in the General Pediatric Outpatient Evening and Weekend Clinic. For additional information a receptionist may be reached at (253) 968-1980 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Pediatric Subspecialty Clinics are offered in Hematology/Oncology, Pulmonology, Endocrinology, Gastroenterology, Cardiology, and Infectious Disease by consultation or referral. Pediatric Neurology patients are seen in the General Pediatric Clinic and are scheduled through the Adult Neurology Clinic. For additional information regarding these clinics, a receptionist may be reached at (253) 968-1980 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Developmental Pediatric Clinic provides evaluation, treatment, and ongoing subspecialty care for children and adolescents with chronic disabling conditions, either medical or behavioral. For additional information, a receptionist may be reached at (253) 968-2310 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

FISHER HOUSE

Well Child Clinic provides health maintenance visits for children less than 24 months of age. Immunizations are given at the time of the visit or during the walk-in immunization hours of 8 to 9 a.m. Monday through Thursday and 1 to 2 p.m., Monday through Friday, to children 2 months to 23 years. Walk-in immunizations will not be given unless the child is up-to-date with well child visits. No other children are allowed in the Well Child waiting room or exam rooms except for the child scheduled for the well child appointment. For additional information, a receptionist may be reached at (253) 968-2315 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Social Work Service provides a broad range of professional inpatient and outpatient social work assistance for Madigan patients and families.

Flying Activity

The Fort Lewis Army Flying Activity offers flight training for all of the various aviation ratings from the private pilot through the airline transport pilot. These programs encourage creative development of skills in flying by providing the necessary ground and flight training to achieve the highest level of certification in aviation. For those who are already rated pilots, there are rental aircraft available for travel, sightseeing and other recreational uses. Most aircraft are fully equipped for instrument flight and are the finest maintained aircraft in the Northwest. One of the most important benefits is that all flying club members are named insured on the DOD insurance policy, eliminating any requirement for an individual to acquire renter's insurance at individual's expense. The Fort Lewis Army Flying Activity is open to members of all active duty military, retirees, reserves, national Guard, DOD civilians, Civil Air Patrol and the FAA.

The office is located in Nelson Recreation Center, Bldg. 3168. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. However, due to reduced staffing, please call 253-964-4932 to ensure someone will be there.

Cascade Community Center

The Cascade Community Center is open to everyone and offers lunch Monday through Friday and is set up as a fast food and cafeteria operation. The Cascade Lounge is open Wednesday and Friday and includes a game room. The Lewis, Clark and Olympic rooms are available for private parties and other functions. Reservations can be made by calling the Centralized Catering Office at 964-8256/1209. The facility also houses a barber shop that is open to everyone. Appointments can be made by calling 964-4546.

Club North on North Fort is Fort Lewis' Country and Western club. The club opens Wednesdays at 8 p.m. and Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at 7 p.m. Private parties may be scheduled by calling 964-1209 or 8256.

Especially Espresso Shops

There are three especially Espresso shops located on Fort Lewis. The main store is located in ITT building which houses the bus terminal. The North Fort Store is on D street and 17th street and the third store is located in the Stone Education Center. All stores serve our own specially roasted coffee, which features our Battle Bean coffee blend. All stores offer special sandwiches, gourmet snack items and packages of our own roasted ground coffee.

Russell Landing Cafe

Russell Landing Cafe is located on North Fort on the shore of American Lake. It is open for lunch, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday through Friday. The bar is open Wednesday afternoon. The facility is excellent for small parties or unit functions. To reserve this facility call 964-1209/8256.

Centralized Catering

The Centralized Catering Office is located in the Leisure Travel Center, Bldg. 2166 on main post adjacent to the bus terminal. Wedding receptions, promotion parties, banquets and special arrangements can be made by calling 964-1209/8256.

Enlisted Spouses Club

The Enlisted Spouses Club has an active membership and are dedicated to providing opportunities for spouses of enlisted active duty, reserve and retired soldiers or widowed spouses to positively contribute and improve the quality of life for the Fort Lewis community.

The Fort Lewis ESC won the first annual Newman's Own award for Excellence in Military Community Service June 2000. The award was used to purchase sewing machines and materials to teach spouses how to quilt and sew.

Along with giving an opportunity to join in community work, the club sponsors an Annual Spring Bazaar, social functions and a Christmas Gift wrap. Club dues are $12 per year. During the 2000-2001 year, the Fort Lewis ESC donated more than $19,000 back to the Fort Lewis community to increase the quality of life for all who live and work on Fort Lewis. Meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month in Bldg. 6069, corner of 2nd street and Nevada. For more information call 253-967-5849 or contact Fort Lewis ESC@aol.com.

Officers Spouses Club

The Officers Spouses Club (OSC) is an active organization dedicated to serving the Fort Lewis community. With a membership of more than 200, OSC sponsors one major fund raiser each year, the Holiday Bazaar, contributing to Fort Lewis and surrounding communities. Board meetings are held monthly at the OSC cottage, Bldg. 1143. Luncheons are also held monthly. The cottage is available for rental by members.

Membership dues are $15 per year. Phone 967-6571 for more information regarding eligibility.

Military Museum

The mission of the Fort Lewis Military Museum, Bldg. 4320, is to collect, preserve, exhibit and interpret the history of Fort Lewis, the units which served here, and the story of the United States Army in the Pacific Northwest.

Four major galleries depict the colorful history of Fort Lewis, the units which served here, and the story of the U.S. Army in the early Pacific Northwest.

The museum, housed in the old Fort Lewis Inn, was originally constructed in 1919 by the Salvation Army and named the Red Shield Inn. It was used as a lodge and social center for soldiers and visitors to Camp Lewis. It was situated in an area known as Greene Park, named after the first commanding general of the 91st Infantry Division and Camp Lewis, Maj. Gen. Henry A. Greene. In July 1921, the Army purchased the Inn on a "Quit Claim" deed for one dollar and renamed it the Camp Lewis Inn. In 1927, the camp was designated a fort and the inn acquired the title it was to keep for 46 years — the Fort Lewis Inn.

In 1973, the structure became the home of the Fort Lewis Military Museum and today serves as a distinguished reminder of Fort Lewis' historic past. The museum's collection of military artifacts is rich and varied and consists of weapons, uniforms, vehicles and thousands of other items pertinent to the history of Fort Lewis.

The museum has many exhibits covering the history of military activities in the Northwest. Exhibits are arranged chronologically, highlighting the divisions which have trained at Fort Lewis and their overseas duty.

Special exhibits are devoted to WWII in Europe and the South Pacific, and combat art from Vietnam. Uniforms, equipment and weapons represent all eras.

The museum's holdings include weapons, vehicles and uniforms from the Persian Gulf War.

Outside the museum is a 2-1/2 acre park containing military vehicles, artillery pieces, tanks and missiles.

The museum is open to the public Wednesday through Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. Guided tours are available by scheduling with the museum at 967-7206.

Puget Sound Area

Pacific Northwest

The Pacific Northwest is a land of contrasts. From the icy deep waters of the Pacific Ocean and the Puget Sound to the high country desert of Central Washington, the area abounds in natural beauty. Towering mountain peaks, lush rain forests and flowing wheat fields are just some of the wonders that await newcomers to the area. Yet, the Northwest has many major cities too: Seattle; Tacoma; Vancouver, British Columbia; and Portland, Oregon, to name just a few.

Most Fort Lewis soldiers, civilian employees and their families live in the South Puget Sound region. More than 2,500 military families live in Lakewood and Tacoma, 1,900 families live in Lacey and Olympia, more than 1,100 military families live in Parkland and Spanaway, and 600 live in Puyallup.

Tacoma

Tacoma is the largest city close to Fort Lewis. The city was shaped over the years by a series of booms and busts that began when the first business was started in the mid-1800s. Businessman Morton McCarver promoted settlement in the budding town and he named it Tacoma, a derivation of the Indian name for Mount Rainier.

The railroad and a growing port brought new businesses to the area. Today Tacoma's port is one of the largest container ports in the world and a major employer in the area.

The Tacoma Narrows Bridge is one of the longest suspension bridges in the world. The center clear span measures 188-feet high and 2,800-feet long. The current bridge opened in 1950, replacing the first narrows bridge which was nicknamed "Galloping Gertie" because of the way it swayed in the wind. It collapsed in 1940, after it was open for only four months and seven days.

With a population of approximately 179,000, Tacoma offers abundant cultural activities. The Pantages Centre of Performing Arts and the Tacoma Dome attract nationally and internationally famous acts. The Tacoma Art Museum features a permanent collection of American and French paintings.

Sports also play an important role in Northwest life. Sailing, skiing, hiking and biking, can all be done within an hour's drive from your door step. Cheney Stadium is the home of the Tacoma Rainiers, an AAA farm club of the Seattle Mariners.

The Tacoma Rockets, a professional hockey team, plays home games in the Tacoma Dome.

The Pierce County and Metropolitan Park Districts offer numerous recreational activities and programs. Point Defiance Park is the largest park in the city. In the midst of the 650-acre park is a zoo and aquarium with a Pacific Rim theme. Visitors can thrill to Beluga whales splashing in their pool or a ride on the back of an Asian elephant.

The park also features a beach, scenic drive, hiking trails, gardens, a logging camp with its own steam locomotive ride, Never Never Land—a fairyland for children, and a replica of the Hudson Bay Company's Fort Nisqually.

Another popular local park is Northwest Trek, a 600-acre wild animal sanctuary located in Eatonville. Visitors can view free-roaming animals from the comfort of a covered tram.

Tacoma also has numerous shopping centers, the largest being the Tacoma Mall. The mall, one of the largest in the Pacific Northwest, features The Bon Marche, Nordstrom's, Sears, J.C. Penney and many other shops and restaurants.

Seattle

An hour north of Fort Lewis lies Washington's largest city, Seattle. Straddling a narrow strip between freshwater Lake Washington and saltwater Puget Sound, the city is home to more than 522,000 people. It is named after Indian Chief Seathl.

Since its early days, people have been drawn to Seattle by its rugged scenery and mild climate. Although the Puget Sound was heavily explored in the 18th and 19th centuries, the first families didn't permanently move into Seattle until 1851, when they settled at Alki Point.

The timber industry and maritime trade with the Orient contributed to the city's phenomenal growth. The area is still a strong link in the trade chain with the Far East and the entire Pacific Rim.

The waterfront is not only a busy container port but a popular place for visitors. Numerous shops, restaurants and an aquarium line the piers, once used as warehouses and working docks. Washington State Ferries, one of the country's largest ferry systems, leaves from Pier 52 to various points around Puget Sound. Private companies also run ferries and cruise ships from Seattle to Victoria, British Columbia.

Fort Lewis

Puget Sound Area

Seattle harbor tours also leave daily for water tours of the Port of Seattle and longer excursions to Blake Island. The island is the birthplace of Chief Seathl. Tours include a salmon dinner cooked on an open fire and a performance of native dances from various Indian cultures of the Northwest. Another popular Seattle attraction is Pike Place Market, an open-air market where you'll find fresh seafood and produce, arts and craft items and clothes. The market first opened in 1907.

Pioneer Square is a 30-block area of shops, nightclubs, restaurants and galleries housed in historic buildings. Most of the buildings were built on the ashes of the original settlement destroyed in the Great Fire of 1889.

The 74-acre Seattle Center was the site of the 1962 World's Fair. Many of the fair buildings now serve cultural purposes such as the Pacific Science Center, the Art Museum Pavilion, the Children's Museum and the Center House. The crowning jewel is the 605-foot Space Needle. An observation deck at the 520-foot level offers a panoramic view of the city, the mountains and the sound. A monorail links the center with downtown's Westlake Center Shopping Mall.

Olympia

Washington's capital Olympia is an important commercial port in its own right. Located 12 miles southwest of Fort Lewis, it's the gateway to the Pacific beaches and the Olympic Peninsula.

Together with the neighboring communities of Lacey and Tumwater, the metro area has a population of more than 68,040. Its major industries include lumber, furniture making, plastics and the Olympia Brewery.

There is a lot to see and do in the Olympia area including touring the state capitol complex, the Olympia Brewery, the Mima Mounds (located south of the city), oyster beds and numerous city parks. Olympia also hosts several celebrations throughout the year. The largest event is the annual Capitol Lakefair held in early July.

Steilacoom

Located just outside of North Fort Lewis is the town of Steilacoom. Founded in 1854, it was the site of the state's first library, courthouse and territorial jail.

Puget Sound Area

Fort Lewis

The town was also a leading contender for the territorial capital.

Many of the buildings in Steilacoom are more than a century old, including the first Protestant church in the state. Immaculate Conception, a Roman Catholic church, was built in 1856. It is one of the oldest churches still in continuous use in the state. Another historical building still in use is the Bair Drug and Hardware Store. A working turn-of-the-century museum, it has a 1906 soda fountain which still dispenses old-fashioned sodas and fizzes. Along with the Nathaniel Orr Home, The Bair is on the National Register of Historical Places.

Besides the numerous historical buildings, Steilacoom has two public beaches and a public boat launch. A ferry leaves the town dock for Anderson Island and Ketron Island. Annual events held in town include the Apple Squeeze in October and a Salmon Bake on the beach in the summer.

Lakewood

Many Fort Lewis families call Lakewood their home because of its proximity to post and excellent shopping facilities. McChord Air Force Base, Fort Lewis's next door neighbor, is located just outside of Lakewood.

The Lakewood Mall opened in the fall of 1989 and features Mervyns, Target, and Lamonts.

Lakewood's development began as a resort getaway for residents of Tacoma. People were drawn to the area by its many crystal clear lakes and tall pines, just as they are today.

The annual Lakewood Festival is held in August.

Puyallup

In the heart of a fertile valley located east of Tacoma is the town of Puyallup — the Daffodil Capital of the United States. Each spring the valley comes alive when millions of daffodils, irises and tulips burst into bloom.

The valley is also known for its raspberry, strawberry, blueberry and blackberry crops.

Spots of interest in the valley include the Van Lierop Bulb Farm and the Meeker Mansion, a 17-room Victorian Mansion that was the home of Ezra Meeker, hop grower and the first mayor of Puyallup.

Puyallup joins with other valley towns to host the Puyallup Valley Daffodil Festival, held annually in early April. The town also plays host to the Western Washington State Fair held every September. Top entertainers, exhibits, livestock shows, midway rides and a rodeo headline the fun at this annual event.

Gig Harbor

Five miles northwest of Tacoma, across the Narrows Bridge, lies the quaint waterside town of Gig Harbor. Settled by Slavic immigrants, the town features dozens of shops, restaurants and galleries along Harborview Drive.

Fort Lewis

Puget Sound Area

Gig Harbor offers moorage for commercial fishing boats and private craft. The town is also the gateway to the Kitsap and Key Peninsulas via Highway 16. Just a short drive north of Gig Harbor is Bremerton and its Naval Shipyard, home port of the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Nimitz. A trident submarine base is located nearby in Silverdale.

Regional Areas

The Cascades run from the Canadian border south through Oregon, dividing Washington into distinct climates. Eastern Washington is often dry when Western Washington is wet. Thousands of acres of forest provide homes for bear, deer, mountain goats, eagles and many other species. The mountains also provide endless recreational opportunities for humans. Skiing (down-hill and cross-country), hiking, camping, mountain biking and fishing are just some of the ways to get out and explore the great outdoors.

Two national parks, North Cascades and Mount Rainier, and a national volcanic monument, Mount St. Helens, are located in the Cascades.

Towering over all other Cascade peaks is Mount Rainier. Climbing 14,414 feet towards the sky, the mountain is covered year-round by 35 square miles of ice in 27 named glaciers. It's the largest single mountain glacier system in the lower 48 states.

Forests cover the mountainside up to 5,000 feet, alpine meadows contrast with ice and snow at higher elevations.

Puget Sound Area

Fort Lewis

Flowers in the high country meadows usually bloom from late June to early August. Fall foliage colors are generally best in late September.

Mount Rainier National Park is open daily. However, only the Nisqually entrance is open year-round. Visitor services are available at Longmire, Paradise and Sunrise.

In summer, the park is ideal for hiking, camping and climbing. Each year more than 2,500 climbers attempt the two-day climb to the summit.

In winter, the deep snow pack makes it ideal for cross-country skiing and tubing. A snow play area is located at Paradise. The Sunshine Point Campground is open for snow camping.

The Olympic Peninsula, located in Washington's extreme northwest corner, is an area of contrasts. It's a land of wind-swept beaches, rugged mountain terrain, lush rain forests and glacier-covered peaks. Deer, elk and bears are plentiful.

Camping and hiking trails are available in both the Olympic National Forest and the Olympic National Park. Most areas are accessible from U.S. Hwy. 101, which forms an inverted "U" shape around the park and forest.

Olympic National Park is a scenic wilderness of 917,133 acres. More than 600 miles of trails cut through the park's varied terrain, including 57 miles of unspoiled ocean coastline.

Mount Olympus is the highest point on the peninsula at 7,965 feet. On the upper slopes, glaciers are found, unusual for their formation at lower elevations. Stands of Sitka spruce, Douglas fir, hemlock and cedar cover the lower mountain slopes.

Rainfall averages 140 inches in the western rain forests. The most spectacular of the ancient forests are found in the Hoh, Quinault, Bogachiel and Queets River valleys.

Besides rugged scenery, the peninsula has quaint seaside towns like Aberdeen-Hoquiam, Port Angeles, Westport and Port Townsend.

A popular vacation spot, the Long Beach Peninsula is famous also for its oyster and cranberry harvesting. The area claims to have the world's longest beach — 28 miles of hard sand — prime for surf fishing, swimming, deep sea fishing and boating.

Points of interest on the peninsula include; Cape Disappointment, known as the "Graveyard of the Pacific" because of the great number of ships which have wrecked there; North Head Lighthouse near Ilwaco; and Oysterville, a boomtown created by the discovery of rich oyster beds in 1854. These oysters were considered such a delicacy that they sold in San Francisco during the 1850s for $50 worth of gold per plate.

Located nearby is the Columbia River, a popular spot for board sailors. Sailors can be found up and down the river on the Washington and Oregon sides. However, the most sailboard action can be found near Hood River, Ore. in the Gorge.

Most Fort Lewis soldiers see Central Washington as part of their training at the Yakima Training Center. Unlike Western Washington, much of the middle section of the state is semi-arid.

The Yakima Valley, located east of Mount Adams, is one of the major agricultural areas in the state. Many of Washington's vineyards are located in the valley. The area's optimum weather conditions produce the finest grapes, making Washington State one of the top wine producers in the country.

Thanks to irrigation, much of the state's mid-section is rich in agricultural crops. Rolling wheat fields, reminiscent of the Midwest, and fruit orchards dot the countryside.

Central Washington abounds in recreational opportunities too. It's one of the best areas in the state for hiking, fishing and hunting. Down-hill skiing is available in the nearby mountains at White Pass Ski Area. White water rafting is popular on the Wenatchee River between Leavenworth and Cashmere during the summer months.

Fort Lewis

Puget Sound Area

Ellensburg is located in the Kittitas Valley. Once it was a neutral area in which the Wenatchee, Nez Perce and Yakima Indians hunted and fished together. Today, it's a bustling college town. The Ellensburg Rodeo is held every Labor Day weekend.

Leavenworth, once a quiet railroad town, has been transformed into a Bavarian village. Visitors are attracted to the town by its quaint shops and European-style restaurants. The Autumn Leaf Festival and Christmas Tree Lighting are popular annual events held in town.

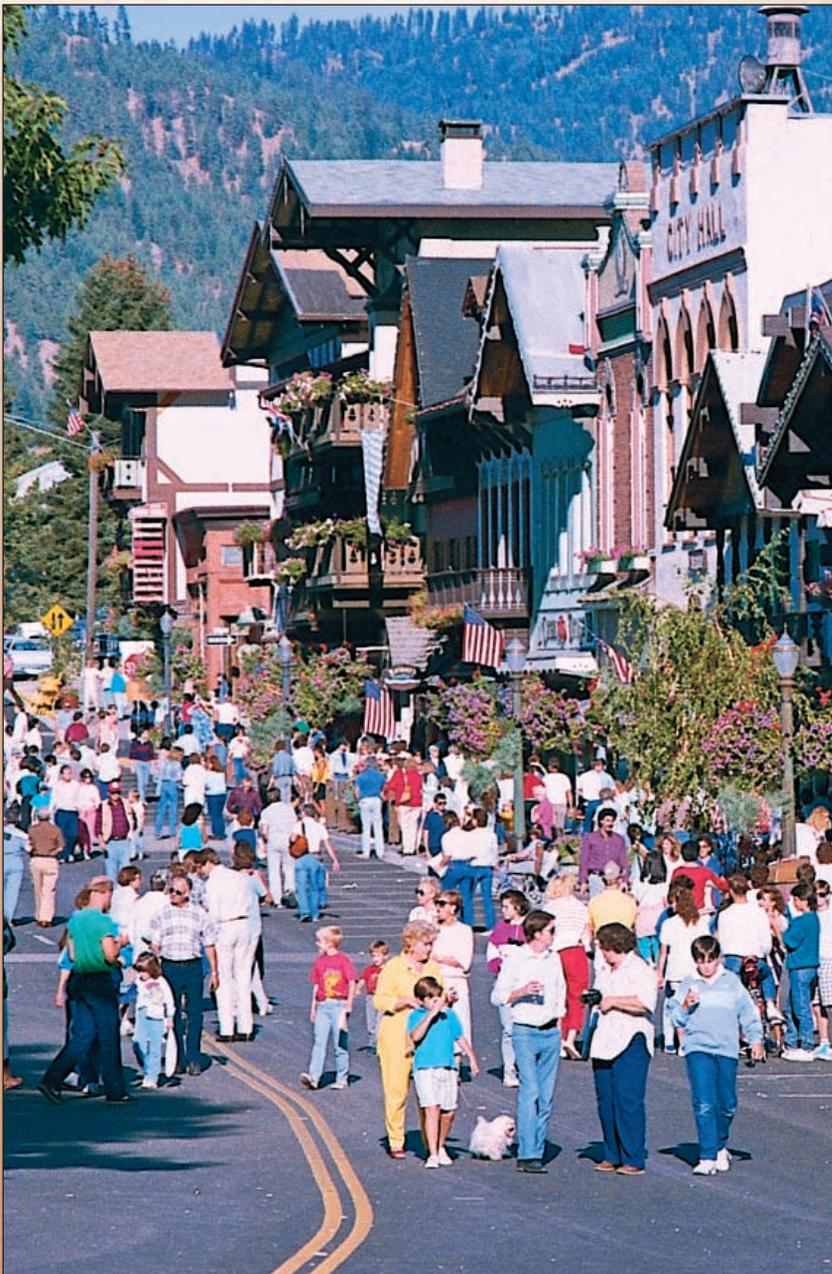

Washington's northwest area offers some of the most scenic, relaxing and exciting recreational experiences in the state. Whether hiking in the North Cascade Range, skiing the slopes of Mount Baker, or rafting down the rivers on a relaxing eagle-sighting expedition or exciting white-water adventure, you're sure to create memories that will last a lifetime.

Few places have as much tranquil charm as the San Juan Islands. Scattered between U.S. and Canadian waters, the 176 islands offer idyllic getaways where coastal forest and calm saltwater come together in bays, inlets, coves and marine retreats.

Washington State Ferries cruise through the islands, making several round trips a day from Anacortes, including daily trip to Vancouver Island, British Columbia. Equipped with restaurants and comfortable lounges, the ferries are a convenient and inexpensive way to see the islands with or without a car. They stop at four islands where you can get off, spend a few hours exploring, then take the next ferry to another island. Whale watching and bicycle tours are popular island activities.

The southeastern corner of Washington offers striking contrasts in scenery and climate. The land here has been shaped by wind and water, creating sculptured hills, gorges and sage desert.

Eastern Washington has played an important role in U.S. history. Walla Walla was an important stop on the Oregon Trail. Along with Los Alamos, N.M.; Oak Ridge, Tenn.; and the Argonne Laboratory in Chicago, the

Puget Sound Area

Fort Lewis

Hanford site in Richland was a development site for the first atomic bomb. High technological industries still play an important role in the town's economy.

The northeast corner of the state is dotted by numerous lakes, the largest of these is Lake Roosevelt. Stretching 130 miles from the Grand Coulee Dam to near the Canadian border, the lake offers water skiing, boating, swimming and fishing.

Spokane has grown from a small trading post to Washington's second largest city. The city was the site of Expo '74. Now the former fairgrounds have been transferred into a 50-acre city park with many of the original attractions from the world exposition still in use.

Coeur d'Alene Lake, just across the state line in Idaho, is just a short trip from Spokane. The lake, a natural body of water, offers a number of recreational activities including boating, swimming and water skiing. A major resort hotel on the lakeshore attracts visitors year-round for conferences and just plain fun.

British Columbia is just a three-hour drive north on Interstate 5. This western-most Canadian Province offers spectacular scenery and big city fun. The rugged mountain peaks create a dramatic backdrop as they rise near the sea. British Columbia offers a chance to get away from civilization and journey into the untamed wilderness. White water rivers run fast and wild through the countryside. Hiking, camping and skiing are just some of the many other things to do in the back country.

World-class skiing can be found at Whistler and Blackcomb year-round. Blackcomb Mountain, with its mix of heart-stopping and easy cruising slopes, has the highest vertical drop of any ski mountain in North America. Whistler, Blackcomb's next door neighbor, is the site of a major World Cup downhill race, the Molson Cup.

Yet, there are major cities in British Columbia too. Vancouver is a world-class city in a spectacular natural setting. To the east rise the peaks of the Coastal Range, and to the west lie the Straits of Georgia. The city is rimmed by lush forests and sandy beaches.

The city's major attractions include Gastown, Robson Street, Granville Island Market, Chinatown and Stanley Park.

Victoria, located on the tip of Vancouver Island, is the capital of British Columbia. The city has an air of European charm. From the double-decker buses to the elegance of the

Fort Lewis

Puget Sound Area

Empress Hotel, a trip to Victoria is like a trip to Merry ol' England. Major attractions include the Royal British Columbia Museum and Butchart Gardens.

Accessible only by boat, ferry service is available from Seattle, Port Angeles, and Tsawwassen, B.C. The Vancouver Island Princess and the Victoria Clipper, a high-speed catamaran, sail daily from Seattle.

Oregon, like Washington state, is a land of climate and landscape contrasts. The Cascade Range divides the state into two distinct climates. Mount Hood, rising 11,239 feet above sea level, is the highest point in the state.

With nearly half of its land covered in forests, Oregon leads the nation in lumber industries. Agriculture also plays an important role.

Recreational activities center around the mountains and the Pacific Ocean. Fishing, hunting, hiking, camping and white water rafting are just a few of the activities to be found. Oregon has one of the most extensive park systems in the west. A state-wide network of bicycle trails has been developed by the state Department of Transportation.

Snow skiing is popular at several ski areas on Mount Hood and at Mount Bachelor, located near Bend.

Portland, Oregon's largest city, is only a three-hour drive from Fort Lewis. The city offers many cultural and recreational activities including museums, gardens, parks and a zoo.

Portland is a popular place to shop because Oregon has no sales tax. Many major department stores and outlet stores, such as the Pendleton Woolen Mills, offer shoppers endless choices. The Fort Lewis Information, Tickets and Tours Office runs several day trips to Portland, especially during the Christmas shopping season.

Some facts about Washington state history: Washington, named for our nation's first president, became a state in 1889. Prior to then it was known as the Washington Territory in 1853.

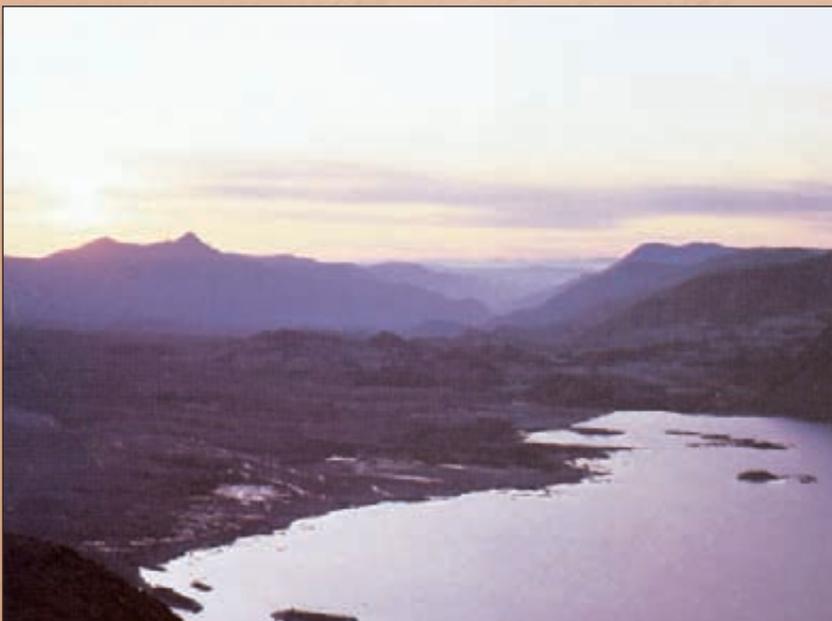

Population: In 1992 the estimated population in Washington was 5,116,685. The majority live in the western portion, most in the Puget Sound area. Seattle is the largest city, with a population of 522,000. Next in size is Spokane with 180,800 and Tacoma with 179,000.

Climate: Washington has two distinct climatic zones: the eastern and western portions, which are divided by the Cascade Mountains. Climate in the eastern half is characterized by warm summers, cooler winters and a very dry climate. Spokane's average rainfall is only 17 inches per year. The western side is known for its rainforests. Seattle, however, receives only 38 inches of rain per year.

Geography: The western portion of the state is heavily forested and enjoys a very long coastline, served by 12 ports capable of handling freight and ships of almost any configuration.

Puget Sound Area

Fort Lewis

Eastern Washington's geographic diversity ranges from densely forested and snow-capped mountain peaks to rolling hills of wheat to desert country.

Industry: The manufacturing of transportation equipment is the number one industry in the state. The Boeing Aircraft Corporation, located in the Puget Sound area, is the largest manufacturer of commercial transport airplanes in the free world. The second largest industry is forest products.

Recreation: The state has three national parks (Mount Rainier, Olympic and North Cascades), nine national forests, more than a thousand lakes and rivers and 2,500 miles of shoreline. Among the major attractions are downhill and cross-country skiing; coastal fishing for salmon, tuna and bottom fish; fresh-water fishing for trout, steelhead and bass; camping, hiking, boating, city sight-seeing, river rafting, Indian culture and historic sites.

Fort Lewis

History

Fort Lewis, named after Meriwether Lewis of the famed Lewis and Clark expedition, is one of the largest and most modern military reservations in the United States. Consisting of 87,000 acres of prairie land cut from the glacier-flattened Nisqually Plain, it is the premier military installation in the Northwest.

Fort Lewis began as Camp Lewis in 1917 when the citizens of Pierce County voted by an eight to one margin to bond themselves for $2 million to buy 70,000 acres of land. They donated the land to the federal government for military use. The only stipulation was that the tract be used as a permanent Army post.

Captain David L. Stone and his staff arrived at the camp site May 26, 1917, and a few days later the initial construction began. The entire camp was ready for occupancy a month ahead of schedule. In 90 days, Stone had supervised the construction of a "city" of 1,757 buildings and 422 other structures all lighted and heated for 60,000 men.

The first recruits moved into their new barracks on Sept. 5, 1917, exactly two months after the post building plan had been handed to the contractors.

When they completed construction of the new cantonment, workmen subscribed $4,000 to build the Main Gate — which is still standing. The arch was built of field stone and squared logs resembling the old block houses which stood in the Northwest as forts.

Some 60,000 men, including the 91st Division, moved into the hastily constructed cantonment to train for World War I. Recruited largely from the Northwest, the 91st was considered "Washington's Own." The following two years saw tremendous activity at Camp Lewis as men were mobilized and trained for war service. Thousands of the nation's youth learned to know Camp Lewis and the state of Washington.

With the conclusion of the war, activities at Lewis ground to a standstill. Camp Lewis passed from the hands of Pierce County and became the property of the federal government when the deed for 62,432 acres was recorded in the county auditor's office in Tacoma.

In March 1926, $800,000 was authorized for the construction of permanent brick barracks at Camp Lewis. The following year saw Camp Lewis become Fort Lewis, a full-fledged Army post.

By 1934, with the 10-year rebuilding program more than half completed, Fort Lewis had taken on the appearance of a solidly constructed and, in some ways, self-sustaining city.

Since 1927, the government had spent nearly $7 million in transforming a wartime cantonment, which only cost $7 million itself, into a modern permanent post. Fort Lewis was rebuilt on an architectural scheme, which provided for indefinite expansion in case additional buildings were authorized.

In a few short years, Fort Lewis had become one of the finest garrisons in the world, equipped and ready to train an expected increase in personnel.

Brigadier General David L. Stone, who had supervised the original construction of Fort Lewis as a captain, returned as its commanding general in 1936, serving until 1937.

The project of constructing an Army airfield, which later became McChord Air Force Base, directly north of the Fort Lewis installation, received approval as a WPA project in January 1938, and $61,730 was allocated for construction. The allocation provided for clearing, grading, and leveling a runaway 6,000-foot long by 600-feet wide.

The unrest in Europe accelerated the building program at Fort Lewis which consisted, at the time, of 455 permanent structures.

With the start of World War II, the strength of Fort Lewis climbed and by July of 1940, the garrison had approximately 7,000 men. Four months later, nearly 26,000 officers and men were in service at Fort Lewis, McChord Field and Camp Murray, the National Guard training facility which began accepting Army draftees.

February of 1941 saw the largest invasion of raw recruits and National Guardsmen — 11,000 to the Fort Lewis and Camp Murray area since the draft was started in 1940. This, along with the continued growth of the IX Corps and 3rd and 41st Divisions, pushed the post's strength to 37,000.

Two officers who were to become famous World War II generals were stationed at Fort Lewis. General Mark Clark was a major from 1937, when he graduated from the War College, until 1940.

Fort Lewis

General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, and former President of the United States, was executive officer of the 15th Infantry here and then served briefly as Chief of Staff of the IX Corps at Fort Lewis in 1941.

As a result of precautions taken by the commander of Fort Lewis, the post was operating on a wartime basis for several hours Dec. 7, 1941, before official notice of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor came from the War Department.

A camp for prisoners of war was established at Fort Lewis in July 1943 and was continued for three years. The need for increased hospital facilities in the Northwest was growing and once again the War Department looked to Fort Lewis. Plans were announced in 1943 for the construction of a $3 million addition to the Fort Lewis Hospital — later named Madigan General Hospital — which would make the center one of the largest in the nation.

In July 1944, Fort Lewis was redesignated as an Army Service Forces training center for the nation — training medics and engineers.

WACs first arrived at Fort Lewis in the fall of 1943 and became a permanent fixture by the following spring.

Fort Lewis

History

At the conclusion of World War II, the northeast staging area of Fort Lewis became a separation center and discharged its first soldiers in November of 1945.

Although the war was over, 11,000 youthful inductees received intensive training at the Fort Lewis Basic Training Section in May 1946, prior to being sent overseas for occupational duties.

At the time North Korean forces invaded the Republic of South Korea, wartime restrictions were imposed by the Fort Lewis commander, who ordered all troops back to Fort Lewis by the fastest means possible.

In July and August of 1950, Fort Lewis's 2nd Division became the first American division to leave the United States to fight in Korea. They later became the first United Nations force to cross the Naktong River in the counter-offensive that shoved the North Koreans back across the 38th parallel and resulted in a temporary cessation of all organized resistance.

To handle the influx of draftees called up because of the Korean conflict, the 6219th Reception Center arrived at Fort Lewis as the first Pacific Coast center to be reactivated. It soon received, processed and assigned 4,594 soldiers in eight record-smashing days.

Canadian troops arrived at North Fort Fort Lewis in October 1950 to train for duty in Korea, and is believed to be the first large armed group of a foreign nation ever to stage on a reservation operated by the United States.

With the departure of the 4th Infantry Division for Vietnam in 1966, Fort Lewis once again became a personnel transfer and training center. In 1981, I Corps was activated here.

Fort Lewis Landmarks

The old Main Gate is one of the oldest structures on Fort Lewis. The men involved in the construction of the post in 1917 donated 25 cents for each stone. The squared logs and smooth field stones present a style typical of the old blockhouses which dotted the Pacific Northwest during the frontier era. The guardhouses anchor the gallery arch which is complete with rifle ports. The Main Gate was moved to its current site in 1957 when I-5 was constructed.

Two ornate Spanish cannons stand guard at the main gate, in front of I Corps Headquarters, the Museum and the Fourth ROTC Region headquarters. The eight cannons weigh more than three tons each and once formed a part of the Spanish battery at Manila in the Philippine Islands. They were captured by General Wesley Merritt's landing force of Army troops during the battle of Manila in 1898.

The Infantryman, an 18-foot fiberglass statue known as The Soldier's Statue, is set with Mount Rainier and the Cascade Mountains in the background at the north end of Gray Army Airfield. The Infantryman was unveiled in the summer of 1964. It memorializes the men of the 4th Infantry Division who trained at Fort Lewis before their departure for Vietnam. The statue was designed and sculpted by members of the Ivy Division. The statue's face was designed to incorporate features of all races, as to represent all infantrymen.

History

Often serving as the backdrop for ceremonial functions, the 91st Infantry Division monument stands directly before Quarters No. 1, home of I Corps' Commanding General. Unveiled in 1930 by the 91st Division Association, the monument commemorates the role of the "Wild West Division" during World War I. The division was made up of volunteers from Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Utah and Wyoming. The 91st Division trained at Fort Lewis before departing for France.

Fort Lewis Facts

Devore Hall, the former headquarters building for the 9th Infantry Division (Motorized), honors the memory of Specialist Edward A. Devore Jr., a machine-gunner in the 9th Infantry Division. He was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions in Vietnam in March 1968. While participating in a reconnaissance in force, Devore's platoon came under intense attack from a series of well-concealed bunkers. Devore raced through a hail of enemy fire to provide a base of fire from his machine gun. A squad was sent forward to recover a fallen comrade and became pinned down. Devore assaulted the enemy positions and was hit by enemy fire about 35 meters short of his objective. He continued his assault despite intense hostile fire. Despite his grievous wounds, Devore continued to apply accurate suppressive fire and the trapped squad was able to rejoin the platoon in safety.

Pendleton Drive is named for Staff Sergeant Jack R. Pendleton of Yakima, Wash. He died in action in Germany, October 1944. Pendleton was seriously injured while assaulting a machine gun position. He gave his life by deliberately drawing the concentrated fire of the enemy so that others in his unit could pass through the enemy strong point. Pendleton was awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions that day.

Gray Army Airfield honors Hawthorn C. Gray, an avid balloonist. Captain Gray served in World War I and established a world record for altitude in a balloon. He died accidentally during a free balloon flight in November 1927. Gray Army Airfield's east-west runway served as a backdrop for portions of "To Hell and Back," the life story of Audie Murphy, America's most decorated soldier.

Nelson Recreation Center is dedicated to the memory of Sergeant William L. Nelson, who was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions in Tunisia. Nelson served with the 9th Infantry Division during the latter stages of the North African Campaign. He led his section of heavy mortars to a forward position. Amidst intense artillery, mortar and small arms fire, he went on alone to direct his own mortar barrage. Although he was grievously wounded, he continued to crawl closer and closer to the enemy and continued to direct his men's attack.

Carey Memorial Theater, the post's main theater, was named for Staff Sergeant Alvin P. Carey, a member of the 2nd Infantry Division. He single-handedly attacked a German pillbox near Plougastel, France. He killed a rifleman and then continued on, hurling grenades at the fortification in the face of intense fire, which mortally wounded him. Undaunted, he gathered his strength and continued his grenade attack until the occupants of the pillbox were all killed. He was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for his gallant actions.

McVeigh Memorial Gymnasium honors Sergeant John McVeigh, 2nd Infantry Division a recipient of our nation's highest award for gallantry in action, the Medal of Honor. Despite heavy fire and a German counterattack, he stood up in full view and directed the fire of his squad. He then drew his trench knife and charged several of the enemy. In a savage hand-to-hand struggle, he killed one with his knife and was advancing on three more of the enemy when he was killed by point-blank fire.

Fort Lewis

Fort Lewis

Kimbro Memorial Swimming Pool commemorates the actions of Technician Fourth Grade Truman Kimbro, 2nd Infantry Division. During a mission to mine an intersection he discovered it was occupied by an enemy tank and at least 20 riflemen. Driven back by intense fire, he left his squad, and laden with mines, crawled alone towards the crossroads. Although severely wounded, he dragged himself forward and laid the mines across the road but was killed trying to crawl back to his unit. Kimbro was awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions.

Grandstaff Memorial Library honors Bruce A. Grandstaff a native of Spokane, Wash. He was mortally wounded in May 1967 while leading his platoon in Pleiku Province, Vietnam. Grandstaff was leading his weapons platoon through intermittent enemy contact when they were struck by heavy fire. He called for and adjusted artillery fire to within 45 meters of his position. Because the jungle canopy obscured the helicopter gunships' views, he braved enemy fire to throw smoke grenades and was wounded. He went out again to mark the enemy with tracers from his weapon and was again wounded. He continued on and destroyed an enemy machinegun position with hand grenades. He continued to fight and eventually called for artillery fire on his own position. Grandstaff received the Medal of Honor for his actions.

Watkins Field, Fort Lewis' main parade field, is named in honor of Master Sergeant Travis E. Watkins of the 9th U.S. Regiment who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor while assigned to Company H, during the Korean conflict. When an enemy force broke through and isolated 30 men of his unit, Watkins took command, established a defense and directed actions which repelled continuous enemy assaults. Due to his aggressive leadership from Aug. through Sept. 3, 1950, this small force destroyed nearly 500 enemy troops before he ordered his men to escape to friendly lines. Due to his wounds and indicative of his extraordinary heroism, Watkins wished his men "Good Luck" as he remained in place, giving up his life to protect their escape.

Burris Field, North Fort Lewis' main parade field is named for Sergeant First Class Tony K. Burris. He fought with the 2nd Infantry Division in Korea. Over a two-day period, Burris destroyed several emplacements and fortifications, killing many enemy soldiers. He suffered several wounds and refused all but emergency treatment. After charging an enemy position single-handedly, he destroyed it and killed the crew of at least six men. He moved on to the next emplacement and threw his last hand grenade, destroying that position. He fell mortally wounded by enemy fire, but his bravery inspired his comrades to renew a spirited assault to take Hill 605, a strategic position in the battle for "Heartbreak Ridge." Burris was awarded the Medal of Honor for his actions.

Stryker Avenue, a broad street running through the residential area, honors Private First Class Stuart S. Stryker's actions during World War II. After Stryker's unit made its jump east of the Rhine River, they were pinned down by a large group of Germans. In full view of the enemy and under constant fire, he exhorted the soldiers of his unit to get to their feet and follow him. The charge was successful in overwhelming the enemy, but Stryker was killed in the attack. Stryker was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously.

Jensen Memorial Gymnasium was named for First Lieutenant John Jensen. Jensen was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for his actions in France in July, 1944.

Stone Education Center is named after Major General David L. Stone who came to Tacoma as a Major in charge of constructing Camp Lewis in 1917. He later returned as a Major General in 1936 to command the 3rd Infantry Division and the post he built. MG Stone was memorialized in this facility because of his advanced design and use of materials in building Camp Lewis.

The Stone Center is a technologically advanced education facility designed to accommodate state-of-the-art instructional material. It holds both science and computer laboratories as well as technical and academic resource facilities. It is also linked by satellite to other educational support centers.

Yakima Training Center

Fort Lewis

Yakima Training Center, located nine miles north of Yakima, Wash., borders the eastern slopes of the Cascade Mountain Range and the banks of the Columbia River.

In sharp contrast to Fort Lewis, its 323,400-acre terrain is covered with sagebrush, volcanic formations, dry gulches and large rock outcroppings. This training center for I Corps and many other units has vast flat valleys, ideally suited to train large scaled mechanized forces.

Prior to 1941, the area consisted of ranches and a few scattered silica mines. Just before World War II, the Army's need for a maneuver area large enough to contain an infantry division became apparent. It negotiated with landowners to lease 160,000 acres of what was to become the Yakima Anti-Aircraft Artillery Range.

In 1941, the land became the property of the U.S. government. Units from military organizations in the Pacific Northwest use the center for range firing and small unit tests. The first camp was constructed on Umtanum Ridge, 13 miles northeast of the present cantonment area, in 1942. Units that used the center during the World War II era included artillery, infantry, engineer, reserve and National Guard units based in the Pacific Northwest.

In 1947, approximately 60,000 acres were cleared of unexploded ammunition and returned to the original owners. In 1949 and 1950 the State of Washington used the center for summer training of its National Guard units and regular Army troops were permanently assigned to the center. At this time, the Army decided to expand Yakima Training Center. In 1951, it acquired more land through transfer, negotiation and condemnation and was enlarged to 261,451 acres.

Yakima Training Center has services and facilities available for permanently assigned soldiers and families, and for soldiers training at the center temporarily.

based on two-bedroom apartments is as follows:

Yakima – $475 to $600

Selah – $475 to $600

Ellensburg – $375 to $550

Located in the center of the state, Yakima is near many historical and recreational sites. The city itself offers many recreational opportunities such as bowling, tennis, swimming, golf, museums, theaters, horse racing and auto racing. Nearby the Cascade Mountains offer skiing, outdoor recreation, hunting, fishing and hiking. For more information call the Recreation Services Office at ext. 271.

The area also offers an extensive selection of fine dining facilities and local wineries. Fast food and conventional restaurants are located throughout Yakima, with some open 24 hours.

STREET SEQUENCE

The red four-digit numbers indicate the building in that area. Generally, the sequence proceeds from west to east on the Main Post from the 100 block to the 9000 block. There are some exceptions. You'll find the 3000 block at Gray Army Airfield, the 4000 block north of I-5, the 8000 block in Beachwood housing area and the 9000 block at Madigan and the Logistics Center.

North Fort Lewis buildings are identified by letter and numbers in blocks A-F.

The Inn at Schofield Barracks

Encompassed by five acres of tropical foliage, the Inn at Schofield Barracks is Oahu's Official Government Lodging Facility and is centrally located to Oahu's golden beaches, lush rain forests, and glorious golf courses. The feel of old Hawaii awaits you in our 192 room Inn. With its traditional roof line, the Inn is reminiscent of the old Hawaiian plantation era, leaving our guests with a feeling of days gone by.

- * 192 Guest Rooms
- * Free Shuttle Transportation
- * Full Service Deli
- * Local Golf Course & Swimming Pool
- * Area Relocation Information
- * DSN Line Available
- * Conference Room
- * Free Cable TV & Local Calls
- * Free Parking
- * 24-hour Convenience & Video Store
- * One-day Dry Cleaning & Laundry
- * Package & Fax Services

We are the ideal gathering place for recreational activities. Oahu's North Shore beaches are close-by and are the location for the winter Triple Crown surfing competitions. If strolling down ribbons of sand is not for you, lush mountain rain forests await you, revealing the island's breath-taking majestic beauties. If golf is more to your liking, Oahu offers seven military golf courses, with the sixth fairway of Kalakaua's course so close you may hear an occasional cry of "fore."

DOD personnel, active duty, reservist, retirees and contractors, traveling on Medevac, Space-A or Leave, are always welcome to stay here with us at the Inn at Schofield Barracks. Army personnel traveling on Official PCS or TDY Orders must process through the Inn. We are the only facility authorized to issue certificates of non-availability, ensuring that Army personnel receive their full travel per diem entitlements.

With my experience, I can give you

Gentle Dental Care

It takes an experienced dentist to know how to give his patients soft-touch care. During my 25 years in practice I have developed the most modern approaches to dentistry to give even the most frightened patients gentle dental care.

All treatments are given under magnification for detailed care

- *Fillings*Cleaning & Polishing
- *Fluoride Treatment*Sealants for Cavity Prevention*Crowns & Bridges
- *Bonding*Oral Surgery*Root Canals*Full Mouth Reconstruction

The Inn at Schofield Barracks

Encompassed by five acres of tropical foliage, the Inn at Schofield Barracks is Oahu's Official Government Lodging Facility and is centrally located to Oahu's golden beaches, lush rain forests, and glorious golf courses. The feel of old Hawaii awaits you in our 192 room Inn. With its traditional roof line, the Inn is reminiscent of the old Hawaiian plantation era, leaving our guests with a feeling of days gone by.

- * 192 Guest Rooms
- * Free Shuttle Transportation
- * Full Service Deli
- * Local Golf Course & Swimming Pool
- * Area Relocation Information
- * DSN Line Available
- * Conference Room
- * Free Cable TV & Local Calls
- * Free Parking
- * 24-hour Convenience & Video Store
- * One-day Dry Cleaning & Laundry
- * Package & Fax Services

We are the ideal gathering place for recreational activities. Oahu's North Shore beaches are close-by and are the location for the winter Triple Crown surfing competitions. If strolling down ribbons of sand is not for you, lush mountain rain forests await you, revealing the island's breath-taking majestic beauties. If golf is more to your liking, Oahu offers seven military golf courses, with the sixth fairway of Kalakaua's course so close you may hear an occasional cry of "fore."

DOD personnel, active duty, reservist, retirees and contractors, traveling on Medevac, Space-A or Leave, are always welcome to stay here with us at the Inn at Schofield Barracks. Army personnel traveling on Official PCS or TDY Orders must process through the Inn. We are the only facility authorized to issue certificates of non-availability, ensuring that Army personnel receive their full travel per diem entitlements.

"What kind of temporary housing will I find on a per diem this tight?"

You'll get the world leader in corporate housing, Oakwood.

- More space and amenities than a hotel and rates within TDY per diem.
- Full size furnished apartments including housewares, utilities and housekeeping for stays of 30 days or more.
- Worldwide FEMA certified locations.
- An unequalled lodging value for the U.S. military, federal civilian employees and cost reimbursable federal contractors.

When you defend America, you defend a way of life that’s hard to find. Even in America. We’re talking about a close community where people care about one another. Where you can raise a family. And your neighbors are your friends. But that’s the way it is, here at Northwest Landing. This is a brand new small town with heritage-style homes, a modern master plan and miles of wonderful walking trails. We hope you’ll see us soon. So you can live the way of life you defend. Because we think no one deserves it more than you.
